Bill Dalton named to state Labor Relations Commission

By Don Staruk

William J. Dalton, former Andover selectman, was appointed this week by Gov. William Weld as one of the three commissioners of the state Labor Relations Commission.

"I'm really looking forward to it," Mr. Dalton said this week.

"It's been described as being one of the best jobs in the state. You're working with people. You're solving problems."

Mr. Dalton, 49, a longtime Andover resident and former owner of the Andover bookstore, moved to 9 Millpond in North

Election day is Tuesday

By Don Staruk

Town Clerk Randy Hanson is predicting that about 15,000 Andover voters will turn out to cast their ballots in the general election this Tuesday, Nov. 3. Approximately 1,300 absentee ballots had already been cast by Tuesday of this week.

"I would assume, being very optimistic,

Turnout could match 1988:
14,000 to 15,000

that we would have between 14,000 and 15,000 people vote," Ms. Hanson said this week.

Polls open at 7 a.m. Tuesday and close at 8 p.m. There are two polling places in Andover for this election, the same as in the September primary. Precincts 1, 3 and 8 will vote at the Senior Center on

Murphy, Coon battle to the end

State representative candidates differ on PAC money and they don't completely agree on teacher tenure

One major difference that has surfaced between the two candidates in the race for state representative is financial contributions from political action committees. The incumbent, State Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, accepts PAC money; his opponent, Democrat Ellen Murphy, doesn't. Last week when PAC money came up at a debate between the two, Rep. Coon challenged Ms. Murphy to find a vote he made that could have been influenced by a PAC. What follows is her answer to his challenge, and then his rebuttal.

Teachers may picket; hint they'd strike

By Lisa Boudreau

Teachers plan to picket before and after school starting Thursday, Oct. 29, and will meet a week later to decide if they will continue to work if they haven't settled a contract, Tom Meyers, president of the teachers' union, told the Townsmen Tuesday.

Talks between union and School Committee representatives and a private mediator, who was hired last Friday, are scheduled to resume Wednesday, Oct. 28.

The two sides began to negotiate 10 months ago. Since then, two new School

Andover boy safe after kidnapping

By Don Staruk

An Andover father who kidnapped his 9-year-old son from a West Andover bus stop Friday afternoon turned himself in to police Sunday evening, returning the boy unharmed.

Gregory L. Brown, 42, of 22 Railroad Ave., was charged with parental kidnapping and intimidation of a witness. He was held overnight on $500,000 cash bail. Bail was reduced to $25,000 cash at a hearing in Lawrence District court Monday. He was unable to post bail and is being held at the Essex County House of Corrections in Middleton.

The intimidation charge is related to a previous indictment against Mr. Brown for

TOWNTALK

Two's company ... five's a crowd? Sandra and George Schussel, owners of the Ballardvale Mill and Digital Consulting Inc., located in the mill, went on a trip this past August that could have been an in-law nightmare. They joined their daughter, Stacey, and her new husband, Michael Griffin, on the newlyweds' honeymoon safari to Botswana, Africa. And just for fun, Jennifer Schussel, their other daughter, tagged along as well.

All five work at the mill, at 204 Andover St. in Ballardvale, and the trip was a mix of business and pleasure. Mr. Griffin and their daughter didn't mind her family tagging along on their honeymoon, and in fact enjoyed having them along, according to Sandra Schussel.

"Absolutely. They would do it again," the mother-in-law said. "The next time we're going in search of 'gorillas in the mist,' or to the Aleutian Islands."

The Schussels and the newlyweds all live in Lynnfield.

If you were downtown Monday you may have seen TV talk-show host Tom Bergeron, host of TV 4's People are Talking, and his crew outside the Townsman office building on Chestnut Street. Mr. Bergeron was in town to interview people for an upcoming show on Jay Leno. One of the people he interviewed was Townsman reporter Lisa Boudreau. Ms. Boudreau recounted one of several stories her father, the late Theodore Boudreau, shared with his family about the comic's early antics in Mr. B's junior-high science class.

Elinore Washburn, of 3 Temple Place, was in the post office annex on Main Street Monday morning trying to figure the best way to send an absentee ballot to her son, William F. Washburn, 31, who is working and living in Sydney, Australia. William, who can vote because he is still an American citizen, called her last week and asked his mother to fax him a ballot. But ballots can't be faxed, and he had to get the ballot filled out and postmarked by Nov. 2, the deadline for absentee ballots.

After studying the options, Ms. Washburn finally opted to send the ballot Express Mail delivery for $13.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Last chance to meet candidates

The League of Women Voters with the assistance of Andover Bank will hold a candidates coffee at the Andover Bank Lobby Saturday, Oct. 31, from 9 a.m. to noon. The public is invited.

Two plans for Collins Center

By Lisa Boudreau

The School Committee will review two proposals Tuesday, Nov. 17, about managing the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts.

The proposals were chosen by a volunteer group of community members picked by the committee to investigate management options for the facility that has sat relatively idle since the spring of 1991. The non-profit group chosen to run the facility when it was built in 1984, and several of the management companies it hired, folded and disbanded in March of 1991.

During the summer and early fall of this year, the subcommittee received about five proposals from local and out-of-state groups that wanted to manage the Collins Center.

Lawrence repertory company

One proposal the School Committee will consider is from a Lawrence theater group. The Gerrett Co. proposes a repertory company based at the Collins Center. It proposes to include children's theater, repertory group productions, theater workshops, as well as professional entertainment shows, said School Committeeman Chris Outwin, who has worked with the subcommittee.

"They don't have an extensive background in theater management. Their area of expertise is in high quality local theater," Dr. Outwin said.

New Hampshire duo

The second proposal is from two New Hampshire businessmen. Michael Flanagan of Windham, N.H., and David Jenkins of Portsmouth, N.H., want to bring larger-scaled productions to the Collins Center than the Lawrence group, but smaller acts than were staged at the Collins Center in the past.

Mr. Flanagan's expertise is in booking entertainment acts. He has worked for many large halls such as the Wang Center in Boston and the Worcester Civic Center. Mr. Jenkins' background includes entertainment hall management including the Capital Theater in Concord, N.H., said Dr. Outwin.

"The gist of their proposal is to bring in smaller acts with a range that includes comedy, folk music, dance, as well as business conferences and lecture series," Dr. Outwin said.

What it will cost

According to Dr. Outwin, both groups estimate it will cost $130,000 to $150,000 a year to operate box office, management, secretarial, clerical and promotional staff. Day-to-day maintenance and utilities are covered in the schools' budget as part of the high school that uses the Collins Center as its auditorium, said Dr. Outwin.

"Both groups believe that money could eventually be generated out of proceeds. But the question the committee has to discuss is what is a reasonable level of start-up money and risk that can be provided by the town," he said.

According to Dr. Outwin, $10,000 per month, for three to six months, is a "ball-park" figure to begin estimating start-up costs.

"Neither one has made a specific proposal" on how to fund start-up costs, he said. That will be part of the committee's discussion Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the school offices on Whittier Court.

Gaining lost ground on SATs

Last year Andover High School students made up some of the ground they lost on college board scores the previous year.

This year school officials are building on successful strategies to help students score even higher on the Scholastic Aptitude Tests. Math scores rose from a mean of 499 to 516, and verbal scores went from 442 to 446.

SAT scores are used by many colleges and universities as a measure of students' potential.

In 1991 AHS students scored 14 points lower in math and seven points lower in verbal tests than the previous year.

In Andover approximately 90 percent of high school juniors and seniors take the SATs. Last year the school's English and math teachers reviewed the guide booklet provided by the SAT publishers to see how they could help students prepare better and score higher on the tests.

Last year the school scheduled a reading period for students during the school day, hired a consultant to present a review session for the junior class, hired tutors for practice SAT sessions and prepared a summer reading list for students.

This year, English and math educators are reviewing successful test-taking techniques in their classes and the school has compiled an updated vocabulary sheet.

Teachers and students will have to rethink their preparation strategies next year, because the SATs will be revised in 1993. This spring a representative from the SAT tests will speak with educators in Andover about the changes and how to prepare students for the new tests. A small group of approximately 60 AHS students will participate in a field test and take the new SATs.

Library to hold foreign-student reception tonight

A reception for foreign students currently living in the Merrimack Valley will be held tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 at Memorial Hall Library.

This annual event, sponsored by the American Field Service and Memorial Hall Library, commemorates the founding on Oct. 24, 1945, of the United Nations organization and its purpose - "To develop friendly relations among nations." Harriet Ahouse will show slides of her South African trip.

Townspeople are invited to attend.

DCS classes still have some slots

It's not too late to register for the late fall classes at the Department of Community Services including a smoking cessation class, Bow Making, Ceramics, or Holiday Crafts, a meditation class, and a computer skills class in DOS. For more information, call the DCS at 470-3800, Ext. 280.

Attention cooks and area chefs

The Townsmen wants to borrow your recipes!

The paper will publish a special section, Holiday Cookbook, Nov. 12 and would like your recipes to run in it. Please send them to the paper, 33 Chestnut St., by Monday, Nov. 2. Or fax your recipes to 470-2819.

In addition, the Townsmen is looking for recipes from area restaurant chefs for a column, Chef's Corner, that the paper runs from time to time. Chefs who would like to be featured in Chef's Corner may send one recipe and a brief explanation about it. Include a phone number. The Townsmen will call after receiving a recipe, to arrange to come take a photo. Call assistant editor Jack Grady at 475-1943 for further information.

What's it like to play in Phantom of the Opera?

By Lisa Boudreau

David Huneryager is a modern-day troubadour who's living in Andover while he performs in Phantom of the Opera in Boston.

Mr. Huneryager is a classically trained baritone who has expanded his vocal horizons by performing in musical theater, but not just any musical theater.

He's one of the primary cast members of the second National Touring Company of Andrew Lloyd Webber's Phantom of the Opera, now in Boston. He plays Monsieur Firmin, one of the managers of the opera house.

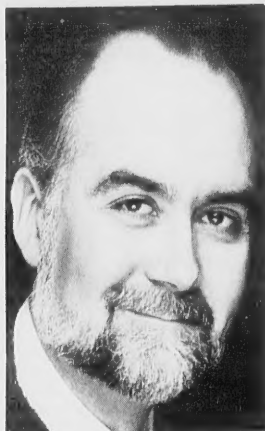

"I'm not disappointed that I'm not the Phantom. I'm not a Phantom. I can sing the Phantom's music, but I really fit the role of the manager," said the 46-year-old Indiana native, who is renting an Andover home with his wife, Brenda, and their two children, while he performs at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts.

"The Phantom's music has some difficult ranges. I have nice music I can sing very easily and enjoy," Mr. Huneryager said.

Personal background

Mr. Huneryager was the youngest of three boys. He grew up on his Mennonite family's farm in Indiana. His father was a well-known bass soloist in the church and community, but the younger Huneryager never thought about singing professionally until he left the family farm and went to college.

"I guess I was too practical. I didn't think it was possible. I came from a farming family and a conservative religious community, where if you wanted to go into music for a living you taught music," he said.

David Huneryager

'I think it's the audience's reaction that keeps me going.'

He got a degree from Goshen College in Indiana, majoring in speech therapy and minoring in music. After graduating, Mr. Huneryager spent two years in France working with developmentally disabled men.

"It was an alternative to military service in 1972, and plus, too, I had a wonderful time living there and learning French. The first five months I spent in Paris taking intensive language lessons.

"The home for the mentally-retarded men I worked with was in an old chateau in the French countryside with tall trees. It was a very beautiful place," he said.

Two years later, he moved to Chicago to teach in the high school where his college sweetheart was a reading specialist. She later became his wife.

At the high school, Mr. Huneryager directed the musical productions, as well as the stage and technical work. At the same time he went to Northwestern University on a fellowship and received a master's degree in opera performance.

Mr. Huneryager quickly won a spot in the Chicago Symphony Orchestra chorus. He said it was a wonderful opportunity to make connections in the classical field as well as solo with the Chicago Symphony and work with opera greats such as Placido Domingo and James Levine, the director of the New York Metropolitan Opera.

Some of the roles he's played include the bumbling viceroy in La Perichole, the sinister Bluebeard in Bluebeard's Castle, both the father and the witch in Hansel and Gretel, the title character in The Chocolate Soldier and Figaro in The Barber of Seville.

Phantom of the Opera

"It was a very last-minute kind of thing. I got a call from my agent while I was doing music theater in Fort Lauderdale," Mr. Huneryager said of his initial audition for Phantom in 1989.

He flew to Chicago for the audition, made the preliminary cuts, and then flew to New York to audition in front of Andrew Lloyd Webber's staff.

"The audition process is so arbitrary. Sometimes it's that they don't like the way you look or it's that they don't like the way you sound.

"This time I looked like what they wanted and I sounded like the way they wanted," Mr. Huneryager said.

Phantom . . .

"I had just started growing a beard at the time and asked if they wanted me to shave it off. They said they liked the beard for the manager (role) and I should keep growing it," he said.

Mr. Huneryager said he's lucky to have been chosen for a principal part in Phantom because it was his first audition for a large-scale production.

"I had done operetta and had been singing professionally with the (Chicago) Symphony, but this was much different," he said.

Brenda Huneryager

While her husband is rehearsing and performing, Brenda Huneryager is taking care of their two children, Dieter, 5, and Rachel, 9, as well as doing some advance work in the city the company will tour next.

"I've become very good at working with real estate agents," she said.

She shops for a house or apartment and investigates each community's public and private schools.

The Huneryager children are now enrolled in Bancroft Elementary. Their father's Boston tour ends in November, but they and their mother will remain in Andover until the end of the school semester.

"I liked Andover right away," she said. When I was here looking at houses, I was sitting in my car one day looking at a map and someone came over right away and asked if I needed help. People here have been very friendly and the kids are happy at Bancroft," she said.

Since the spring of 1991, when the show opened in Chicago, the Huneryagers have traveled to Atlanta, Washington, D.C., Denver, and Philadelphia for three to six months at a time.

Although Phantom is traveling from city to city, the family has been able to stay together because the show plays for months at a time and each stop is scheduled well in advance.

"Right now each of the principal roles has a year contract that is up each April. The tour is scheduled through September 1994 when it will return to Chicago," he said.

Mr. Huneryager said he's heard rumors his Phantom production may be extended to 1997, but nothing official has been announced. He said he hasn't grown tired of his role or performing eight times a week.

"I think it's the audience's reaction that keeps me going. Moving from city to city is also stimulating. At moving time the cast can get cranky, but it's fun to be working and doing what you love," he said.

After the Boston run ends in November, Mr. Huneryager will go to Detroit with the cast. His family will join him later.

What comes after Phantom for Mr.

Huneryager? Maybe more musical theater or a return to opera - he hasn't decided which.

"Ideally I'd love to be able to do both. The way musicals are scheduled we can travel as a family and financially it's OK. What I'd love to do is to sing at the Met," he said.

Mr. Huneryager said he has encountered some "snobbery" among classically-trained opera people when it comes to accepting one of their own who has "crossed over" to do commercially successful musical theater like Phantom of the Opera or Les Misérables.

"But productions like Andrew Lloyd Webber's (creator of both productions and other such as Cats) has made musical theater more open to classically-trained voices. His productions call for singers with operatic voices," he said.

"The two worlds are coming closer together," he said.

His next musical theater endeavor may be another Webber production.

"It has been suggested to me many times to try out for the part of Javert," in Les Misérables, he said.

"That would be a part with music I would enjoy doing!"

Two charged with breaks here

By Lisa Boudreau

Andover Police made two arrests last week in connection with several house and car breaks in town and neighboring communities.

Arrested were Edward Querci, 22, of Wilmington, and Joseph Ribas, 23, of Lowell. Both were charged with five counts of breaking and entering in the daytime with intent to commit a felony and five counts of larceny over $250, according to Andover Police.

Veterans meet Sunday at 11 a.m.

Members of the American Legion Post No. 8 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Andover will meet Sunday, Nov. 1, at 11 a.m. in the veterans' headquarters on Whittier Street.

Here's a vote for the Clinton-Gore team

Michael Frishman of 230 Andover St. is the only person who responded to the Townsmen's invitation to write in and say who a person is voting for in the Nov. 3 presidential election, along with no more than three sentences explaining the vote. He wrote:

"I intend to vote for Bill Clinton and Al Gore...because all evidence indicates that the Clinton-Gore team have proven records as proponents and practitioners of honest, responsible and compassionate government and that they will work as best they can for the best possible defense, health and education, protection and preservation of all of our Detective Dave Grant, who investigated the breaks with Detective Don Pattullo.

As a result of investigation and surveillance, detectives Grant and Pattullo were able to connect the two men to the breaks in surrounding communities. The men later admitted to those breaks, said Detective Grant.

"They kicked in the doors of houses and took jewelry and VCRs," he said.

Veterans Day is Wednesday, Nov. 11.

"The man who has presently been in the White House for 12 years - and who was originally elected vice president by running against a small federal deficit - has been running so profligate a spend-and-borrow government - the federal deficit this year will be nearly four times total annual federal expenditures in the early 1960s - that he has mortgaged our children's children and done so while raising nearly all taxes on the lower and middle wage earners while substantially reducing taxes and protecting the wealth and privilege of his rich family and friends."

The vacuum did it, according to new evidence from a university test of leading vacuums. Which brands were guilty of leaking irritating animal dander into the air? Brands you'd never suspect.

In fact, of all leading vacuums sold in stores, only the Miele was found innocent. Its air-tight engineering and Super Air Clean Filter give it immunity from allergen leakage.

So ask your Miele dealer for a demonstration. Then before you send your pet away, send your vacuum.

Lt. Mooers' trial set for Dec. 7

The alleged incest trial of former Andover Police Lt. Donald Mooers Jr. was scheduled to begin last Wednesday, Oct. 21, but was rescheduled at the request of defense council to Monday, Dec. 7.

Neil Hourihan, Mr. Mooers' attorney, requested the delay because a defense witness was unavailable last week, according to Steve O'Connell, spokesman for the Essex County District Attorney's office.

There should be no more delays, Mr. O'Connell said last week. The Essex County Superior Court trial will be in either Lawrence or Salem.

Mr. Mooers, 51, of Hampton, N.H., was a 23-year veteran of the Andover Police Department when he abruptly retired on Dec. 17, 1991, one day before he was secretly indicted on six charges of incest.

Mr. Mooers was arraigned on Jan. 6 and is free on his personal recognition.

Women's clothes store owner designs accessories

Vena Coco, owner of Vena Coco Collection, has designed a collection of accessories that has been recognized and accepted into the fashion industry in Boston and New York.

Ms. Coco has been involved in the fashion industry for 15 years; her shop is in downtown Andover.

During the past two years, she has been designing clothing under her own label for her clients and is now marketing a line of faux fur accessories.

She also is a consultant and lecturer who frequently presents workshops and seminars to professional women throughout the Greater Boston area.

Ms. Coco and her husband, Cornelius, live in Andover.

M. O'Brien joins Leggat McCall

Leggat McCall/Grubb & Ellis has announced the appointment of Michele O'Brien of Andover as director of marketing. She will be responsible for the firm's marketing and new business strategies, as well as local and national press efforts, collateral materials and promotional activities.

Ms. O'Brien was previously commu-

MSPCA award goes to a local woman

Stephanie Chechik of Andover received the MSPCA's 1992 Special Recognition Award at the society's sixth annual Humane Awards Banquet, Thursday evening, Oct. 22, at the Newton Marriott Hotel. The awards ceremony honors animal and human heroism.

A 22-year-old University of New Hampshire graduate and an animal lover, Ms. Chechik was selected for this award because of her participation in the 1992 Coast to Coast Bicycle Classic, a cross-country bicycle tour designed to benefit a charity of the cyclist's choice. Ms. Chechik chose the MSPCA because of her love of animals and because of her dog, "Scruffy," who came from an animal shelter. She raised $6,000 to cover expenses and to benefit the MSPCA.

Ms. Chechik graduated with a degree in health administration and plans to work in the non-profit sector or in public health.

tia and received his masters in business administration from Northeastern University in Boston. Mr. Gomes is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, a business school honor society.

Mr. Gomes moves from executive vice president to assume the title and responsibilities of the presidency of DCI. In his expanded role, he will run the company's operations and be responsible for the ongoing quality of DCI's products as well as the financial performance of the company.

Dr. George Schussel, founder of DCI, will remain as chairman and CEO. Dr. Schussel will also continue in his role as chairman of both Database World and Downsizing Expo as well as remaining editor of Schussel's Downsizing Journal.

"This change reflects not so much a redefinition of responsibilities as it is a reflection of the way DCI has actually been operating," said Dr. Schussel.

DCI is experiencing a banner year with both exhibitor and attendee sales running at record rates. DCI's three principal trade shows, Case World, Database & Client/Server World and Downsizing Expo, are now seen as MIS industry leaders. Growth during this past year will approximate 70 percent from 1991, a feat made more remarkable as it occurred during a recessionary period in the U.S. economy, according to company personnel.

Founded in 1981 in Andover by Dr. Schussel, DCI has grown into a $20 million company employing more than 100 people at its headquarters in the Ballardvale area of Andover, and at new sales facilities in San Jose, Calif.

Your Dental HEALTH

COLD-SORE PREVENTION

Those who suffer from frequent flare-ups of cold sores, also known as fever blisters, can take a preventive measure to minimize outbreaks. Cold sores are caused by a virus that enters the body, usually during childhood, and remains dormant until the development of blisters about the lips and mouth. Researchers at the National Institute of Dental Research studied a group of people afflicted with frequent cold sores to find out the cause of outbreaks. Their findings showed that 71 percent of the people with cold sore histories experienced blisters within a week of being exposed to strong sun. More importantly, when these same people wore sunscreen on their lips, exposure to strong sun did not result in a single incidence of cold sores.

The basis for our practice in family dentistry is prevention. I believe strongly that one of the most important services we render our patients is a plan for preventive care. I'll counsel you on good nutrition to help promote both good oral health and family health, and I'll show you what you can do at home to keep your mouth a healthy one. At 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93, office hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment. Phone 475-2431. P.S. The prescription medication Acyclovir also helps suppress the cold sore virus.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

with Jean Fitzgerald & Pamela Lebowitz

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE YOUR HOUSE TO SELL?

Did you ever wonder why some houses sell so quickly and others stay on the market for months, even years, before someone buys them. Price is important, and so is the way a home is marketed. Just as important, however, is its basic appeal.

Once the listing agreement is signed, your Realtor will give you some suggestions about simple ways you can help people fall in love with your house. If you follow his or her advice, you will help set the stage for a quick sale. It may mean sprucing up the yard, painting the exterior trim, neatening the closets, scrubbing down the kitchen and baths, or placing some pretty flowers in a vase on your dining room table. Your Realtor's job is to market your home and to make sure qualified buyers see it. The seller's job is to make sure that what we show our buyers looks as good as it possibly can. If you maximize the appeal of your house, you will minimize the length of time it will be on the market.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Minuteman Realty. Call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 2 Elm Square.

SCHOOLS

Townsmen asks students about their election choices

The Townsmen asked three local students, Andrew Chung, Mark Jaklovsky, and Hailey Tytel, their opinions concerning the '92 presidential campaign. Each of the students is decidedly for one of the three tickets — Andrew favors Bush-Quayle; Mark supports Perot-Stockdale and Hailey campaigns for Clinton-Gore.

Interviewed and written by intern Tina Mosca

Andrew Chung

During the summer, Andrew Chung visited Texas for a couple of weeks. As the guest of a representative, this 16-year-old had front-row seats at the Republican National Convention.

Andrew and his schoolmate, Jeffrey Paige, both Phillips Academy students, are in the process of organizing a Republican Club. Right now, all they need is an adviser. They have been "putting signs up anonymously in major school buildings," urging support for the Bush-Quayle presidential ticket. In addition, they have been meeting with members of the Political Economy Club and Democrats' Club to discuss the outcomes of the recent debates.

"I don't think anyone moved up or down," Andrew claimed. "If there was a winner, Perot would have to be it." Concerning Mr. Bush, "I think he did well. He was weak in the first two but he came out in the last debate."

Andrew believes that the economy is the most vital issue in this year's election. "Trust," he explained, "is the second-most-important factor. Clinton proved to be unworthy of trust."

President Bush can't be blamed for all the nation's problems, he emphasized. "It's because of governmental gridlock in D.C., the bureaucratic Democrats who won't pass any of the president's plans. It's horrible, the way the House is bullying the president."

In regard to education, Andrew feels that the GI Bill is very important. "Concentration must be placed more on the working class of the future; public schools need to be reconstructed."

"Although republicans are known to be anti-environment, I am a member of many environmental groups," he claimed.

Andrew's home is in Olney, Md. Both his parents are registered independents. They voted Republican in the last three elections, state and national.

He criticized the Republican position on abortion as "too strong, too severe; abortion should be legalized for rape and incest. But, I feel the pro-life stance is very essential. It really shouldn't be a factor in politics."

The '92 Debates ▶

Adam Stone, of 39 Clark Road, is in grade 5 at South School. His artwork (at right) captures subtle nuances and body language of the three candidates debating their positions on the issues. Adam would like a career as a political cartoonist. Last Saturday, he drew caricatures of people attending the Sanborn Spooky Fun Fair.

◀ Elections in the schools

Students in Andover's public schools have been following the campaigns of the three major candidates for president and will have a chance to cast a vote for their favorite in mock elections.

Colleen Higgins registers Emily Carter for the presidential elections at Doherty Middle School. The two sixth graders took part in the school-wide registration, created to give students an understanding of 'democracy in action'. Students who have registered are then eligible to vote. The town's public elementary and secondary schools will hold mock elections today and tomorrow. The Townsmen will publish the election results from the schools — along with other election coverage — next Thursday, Nov. 5.

Jennifer Cavicchi of Andover has been awarded a Bentley College Service-Learning Scholarship.

This is the first year of Service-Learning Scholarships. Recipients, who were awarded $5,000, were chosen on the basis of involvement in volunteer community service projects, academic achievement, leadership and potential to make a contribution to service-learning opportunities fostered by Bentley College.

Ms. Cavicchi, a first-year student, is a 1992 graduate of Andover High School. She volunteered at the Academy Manor Nursing Home for four years and served as a director in Andover High School's Community Service Program for two years. Through her involvement in the Community Service Program, Ms. Cavicchi coordinated 30 additional volunteers for the nursing home. This achievement was recognized by the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

She maintained an outstanding academic record and was selected to join the National Honor Society.

Scholarship recipients will participate in service-learning projects throughout their years at Bentley. A special reception was held for them last month.

Bentley College, now celebrating its 75th year, is New England's largest institution of higher learning specializing in professional business education.

Linnea M. Basu, a first-year student at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, started her college career with an adventure in the great Maine outdoors on a Colby Outdoor Orientation Trips (COOT).

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dibyendu B. Basu, Linnea spent four days exploring Maine on the Coastal Exploration hiking trip. More than 95 percent of all new students joined in Colby's orientation program this year, a Colby record.

The array of trips included excursions to match nearly every interest and skill level, from the hard-core hiking of the Mahoosuc Notch trip which covers 18 miles of the most difficult part of the Appalachian Trail, to a scenic island bike tour.

COOT was designed 18 years ago to give students an opportunity to explore the state in which they will attend college and to get to know a few other students in a relaxed atmosphere. Each trip consists of 10 new students and is led by two returning students and a member of the faculty, staff or alumni.

Tim Thomas, principal of Andover High School, will give a state-of-the-school address Monday night, Nov. 2, at 7:30 in the Collins Center. The evening is sponsored by the AHS Parent Advisory Council and is open to the public.

Last Thursday evening, Oct. 22, the 141 members of the junior class of Central Catholic High School and approximately 400 relatives and friends attended Junior Class Night ceremonies. The purpose of the evening was to look back over the past two years of accomplishments and to recognize the juniors as upperclassmen.

The evening began with a prelude concert by the Mishawum Choral Society of Woburn. Father Clif Moors, chaplain at Central Catholic, celebrated a special liturgy for the juniors, congratulated the young men and bestowed a special blessing on them and their class rings, which were received just prior to the ceremony. At the conclusion of the Mass, students were joined by parents, friends, faculty, and administration at a reception given by the Marist Women's Guild of Central Catholic High School.

The Andover High Drama Guild held auditions recently for the Neil Simon play, Brighton Beach Memoirs, a comedy about a Brooklyn family that lives in the pre-war Depression in 1937. The play is about family values and relationships; about growing up; about raising a family in hard times; and about sticking together. It is the first of three plays Neil Simon wrote that are somewhat autobiographical.

The AHS production is directed by Robert A. Lague. AHS sophomore Matt Bevacqua is the stage manager and Scott Worthley is technical director. Tickets are on sale for $5 from cast members and Mr. Lague. The weekend production dates: Nov. 20-21 and Dec. 5 at 8 p.m., and Dec. 6 at 3 p.m.

TREATING SCIOLIOSIS

It is conservatively estimated that scoliosis occurs in 10 percent of this country's adolescent population. This condition involves a side-to-side (lateral) curvature of the spine when viewed from the back. Its cause stems largely from hereditary factors, and it is eight times more likely to occur in females than males. Most commonly, this abnormal curvature of the spine is discovered at the time of puberty, when such symptoms as uneven shoulder height and pelvic tilt may be noticeable to parents. Even then, such symptoms may be dismissed as poor posture. This points to the necessity of a thorough spinal examination by a chiropractor. If detected early enough (ages seven through twelve), mild and moderate cases of scoliosis may be treated most effectively.

Children should be checked annually for this condition and new is the perfect time. We are happy to see all of your family members, no matter what the ages. Please call for more information at DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042, for an appointment. We offer natural and safe care and accept only those patients we sincerely feel we can help. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. Untreated severe scoliosis may put pressure on nerves and internal organs to the point where breathing, digestion and childbearing become problematic.

U.N. Ambassador speaks Friday at Phillips Academy

During its annual Parents' Weekend, Phillips Academy will welcome Edward J. Perkins, United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations on Friday, Oct. 30.

Ambassador Perkins was appointed United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations by President George Bush in May. He began his government service in 1962 and holds the rank of Career Minister in the Foreign Service. The winner of the Presidential Meritorious Service Award and Presidential Distinguished Service Award, he is a management specialist with a doctorate in public administration from the University of Southern California.

Ambassador
Edward J.
Perkins

He has been Director General of the Foreign Service and director of State Department Personnel since 1989. Ambassador Perkins was the architect of substantive changes in Foreign Service and State Department personnel management. He devised long-range management plans to ensure that the department's officers will be equipped to meet the challenges of the post-Cold War era.

Ambassador Perkins' address, "The Future of the International Community," will be given at 8 p.m. in Cochran Chapel, located at the corner of Route 28 and Chapel Avenue. The public is invited free of charge.

Coping skills addressed by suburban moms-of-twins group

The North Suburban Mothers of Twins Club will hold a "cope" meeting, which can be helpful to newer mothers of multiples, Sunday, Nov. 1, at a member's home.

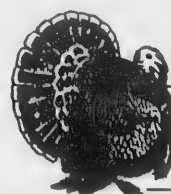

The North Suburban Mothers of Twins Club is a non-profit organization that provides support and encouragement to mothers of multiples, as well as provides an opportunity to share stories, equipment and ideas. All new and expectant mothers of twins, as well as grandmothers and mothers of older twins, are invited to the meetings. Call Margaret Nelson at (617) 944-6317 or Katie Monahan at 664-4545 for more information.

DCS accepting registrations Monday for annual Bradford ski program

The Department of Community Services will begin accepting registrations for the Bradford ski program Monday, Nov. 2. Registrations will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis up to the limit for each school. After the deadline, the department will continue to fill available slots only. Registration deadline is Tuesday, Nov. 24.

WINGATE AT ANDOVER

Joan Cassidy Director of Admissions

Anurse for over thirteen years, Joan Cassidy understands both the medical and the social needs of the elderly seeking long-term care services. As Director of Admissions at Wingate at Andover, Joan can explain the programs and services available. A personal tour of our new facility awaits you. Every detail at Wingate at Andover is designed with you, the resident, in mind: your comfort, your nursing care needs, your therapeutic recreation, and your family's involvement.

Many people don't realize that short-term stays are also available at Wingate at Andover. Our short-term programs include pre- and post-operative rehabilitation, a host of subacute care services, and our widely acclaimed respite care program. Joan can explain how respite care works for you and your family.

Wingate at Andover's rehabilitative short-term stays are designed specifically for those who have recently been, or plan to be, hospitalized. Physical therapy, speech therapy, and occupational therapy services are all available in our beautiful rehabilitation gymnasium, complete with state-of-the-art equipment and licensed therapists. Wingate is the perfect alternative for short-term, pre- and post-hospital treatment prior to your return home.

Stop by for a tour. We'll show you what a nursing home should be.

At Wingate at Andover, we specialize in taking the time to understand the needs of our residents. Only then do we design a care plan tailored specifically to their individual needs.

Merrimack test prep courses for college, grad schools begin next week

Merrimack College is offering a test preparation program for high school juniors and seniors, and for individuals interested in applying to graduate schools. Courses will begin Wednesday, Nov. 4.

The program is designed to help students perform well and raise their scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), the Graduate Records Exam (GRE), the Graduate Miller's Analogy Test (GMAT), and the Law School Aptitude Test (LSAT). The courses, offered through Merrimack's Center for Corporate Education, will be held on campus. They will be small and led by experienced, professional instructors.

Directed by F. Russell Sullivan,

Ph.D., the program seeks to enhance and improve reading, analyzing, and reasoning skills and to optimize each student's ability to score well in the exams.

Test-taking techniques, using examinations similar to those students will take, will be emphasized in the courses.

Center for Corporate Education, Room 312, Sullivan Hall, North Andover, 01845. Their phone number is 837-5124.

State Representative

Dear Voter,

Thank you.

Over the past several weeks, I've visited over 3,000 homes in our community. I've listened to your concerns and your ideas for solving the problems that are facing our state. Thank you for taking the time to talk with me. I've learned a lot.

Two years ago, the most common phrase I heard while campaigning was, "Fix the mess." Our bond rating was in the cellar, expenditures exceeded revenue, billion-dollar tax hikes were the norm -- government was out of control. Voters like you wanted a change from the same old politicians.

Today, things are different. Budgets are balanced. Our bond rating has received an unusual triple-upgrade. Taxes have gone down five times. That's the kind of change you can take to the bank.

Because enough people like me were elected to the legislature, we broke through governmental gridlock. Real work on the issues we care about, like the economy, public safety, and quality education, can now begin in earnest. The big roadblock, fiscal irresponsibility, has been cleared.

I'm confident we can make further progress on these issues. I'm ready to do it. But I can't do anything without your vote. Please vote for me on November 3. And keep the change.

Sincerely,

P.S. Thanks again. I'm honored to be serving you in the House of Representatives.

Parents' weekend: four free concerts at Phillips Academy

The Phillips Academy Music Department will present a Student Recital coordinated by faculty member Christopher Walter Saturday afternoon, Oct. 31, at 2:30 p.m. in the Timken Recital Room at Graves Hall. That same evening at 7:30 in Cochran Chapel, the department will present the Phillips Academy Symphony and Chamber Orchestras under the direction of Mark Smith and Heidi Yenny, respectively. The symphony will play Mendelssohn's Fingal's Cave (The Hebrides) Overture, Op. 26, and Saint-Saens' Danse Macabre, Op. 40. Violinist Patricia Hsu, PA class of '94, will be featured in Danse Macabre. The Chamber Orchestra will play Brandenburg Concerto No. 4, BWV 1049 by Johann Sebastian Bach. Violin soloists are Cynthia Miller, PA class of '94, Jason Bovis, PA class of '95, and Jane Chen, PA class of '95. Amadeus Ensemble will play Concerto Grosso in a minor, Op. 3, No. 8 by Antonio Vivaldi. Students soloists are Kathy Moon, violin, PA class of '94; Sarah Akerman, violin, PA class of '96; and Yvonne Lamoureux, cello, PA class of '95. Excelsior will play Vivaldi's Sinfonia.

Immediately following the Orchestra Concert there will be a Jazz Band Concert at 9 p.m. in the Borden Gym. The PA Jazz Band, under the direction of Eric Thomas, will play Filthy McNasty by Horace Silver, The Girl from Ipanema by Antonio Carlos Jobim, Mercy, Mercy by Josef Zawinul, Round Midnight by Cootie Williams and Thelonious Monk, Naima by John Coltrane, and In the '80s by Bob Mintzer.

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 1, at 3 p.m. in Cochran Chapel, the Music Department will present a Choral Concert featuring the Phillips Academy Chorus under the direction of Christopher Walter and Carolyn Skelton, performing music by American composers: Sing ye praises to our King by Aaron Copland, Alleluia and Choose Something like a Star from Frostiana by Randall Thompson, and the Wedding Cantata by Daniel Pinkham. Also featured on the program, under the direction of William Thomas, is Phillips Academy Cantata Choir and Chamber Orchestra performing selected arias and choruses from the Handel oratorio, Israel in Egypt. The Fidelio Society, an a cappella choir under the direction of

Susan Lloyd, will perform two motets by Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina. They will also perform four sixteenth century madrigals by the composers William Byrd, John Dowland, and Thomas Weelkes. Fidelio Society is the oldest organization on Andover Hill, having been founded at Abbot Academy by Samuel Morse Downs in 1887. For information about the concerts, call the Phillips Academy Music Department at 749-4263.

These concerts are free. The public is invited to attend.

Mark Jaklovsky

"Mr. Perot has the only viable plan to reduce the deficit and the debt. On the domestic front, we do need authority; up to now the solutions have been gridlock or half-measures. You need to take firm steps."

Mark Jaklovsky, a Phillips Academy senior from Andover, has recently spent much of his time volunteering for Andover Citizens For Perot.

This group, organized by Dino Diamondis, consists of citizens who — frustrated by the two-party system — have looked to Mr. Perot for leadership. Among other things, Mark has been lobbying in the streets with his schoolmates, Matt Feragut and Johann Aaspo. "It is difficult to do stuff because of our schedules," he emphasized.

"Clinton's plan doesn't even try to reduce the deficit.

The numbers don't add up," he said. "Bush wants to cut taxes and spending. By cutting taxes you don't really spur consumers. Spending cuts would pump less money into the economy."

Mr. Perot's plan proposes a hefty increase in research-and-development expenditures. "This is important because all technology generally benefits people as a whole. Germany and Japan are doing the same thing; we need to match their progress."

"We spend more per person on education than any other country. We need to reconstruct," he explained. "In the short term we can't worry about education. We have to reduce the debt before we can throw money at anything else."

Referring to the debates, "not any one person won. Each has their own style. Clinton sounded 'stiff'. Perot and Bush, on occasion, sounded more immediate and extemporaneous."

Before Mr. Perot dropped out of the race in July, his character had been frequently attacked. Mark cited this as "a desperate attempt by the press to blacklist him. Now, the press is playing the 'ignore Perot' game. Major newspapers are biased and the press has an inherent fear of third-party candidates that could disrupt the firmly laid two-party system."

On the issue of abortion, "Most people don't know he's pro-choice." A lot of misinformed pro-choice advocates will vote for Gov. Clinton because they believe Mr. Perot is pro-life. In addition, "the polls shouldn't be taken as the last word. A lot of people who respond to polls don't actually go out and vote."

Many Americans are wary of Mr. Perot's lack of governmental experience, Mark added, "but it depends on whether you prefer experienced politicians who have been influenced by PAC money, or fresh blood. People shouldn't feel they are throwing away their vote when they vote for Perot."

Both of Mark's parents have voted Republican for the past six years. He may pursue a career in the foreign service, and biotechnology also interests him.

When asked what he feels about Admiral Stockdale, candidate Perot's running mate, he replied, "Stockdale is intelligent; he doesn't happen to be a great speaker. Perot chose Stockdale because he knew him well as a person and thus knew he could do the job."

Hailey Tytel

It won't be until the '96 election that 17-year-old Hailey Tytel, a senior at Phillips Academy, will have the privilege to cast a presidential ballot.

In the meantime, she's doing her part to support the ticket she believes in, that of presidential candidate Bill Clinton and his running mate Albert Gore. Ms. Tytel is helping out locally, encouraging both Andover citizens and her peers to consider Gov. Clinton when voting on Nov. 3. She and a fellow Phillips Academy student, Andrew Frishman of Andover, have been trying to increase the "visibility" of the Democratic candidates by holding up signs at key points in Andover and keeping their peers informed. They also make phone calls for the Town Democratic Committee, chaired by Karen Courtney, actively organizing to further the Clinton-Gore campaign. "We keep in contact with the local Democratic office and see if there's stuff we can do, and we relate back to them."

At times, she added, "there has not been a lot for us to do, in terms of volunteering."

When asked why she chooses to support Mr. Clinton, Hailey emphasized, "He's not a hostage to the far right." In addition, she admires him for his strong environmental and pro-gay rights stances. Concerning gay rights, it's a matter of "are they a bigot or aren't they?"

She also cited the importance of education. As a young person "you want to understand what is happening to you and around you. Clinton is pro-education." He strongly advocates college loans, vocation training, and Head Start, "a crucial educational program."

As opposed to the more conservative Bush-Quayle ticket, the Clinton-Gore ticket is firmly pro-choice. "As a young woman this obviously concerns me."

Last summer, Hailey worked as an intern at the Philadelphia office of the National Abortion Rights Action League of Pennsylvania. She adamantly pushes for pro-choice rights, saying, "It's my chance to change things."

When she's not in school, Hailey lives in Syosset, N.Y., with her mother, whom she described as "a Democrat — pretty much," and her stepfather, "a pro-choice Republican." She attributes her interest in feminism and women's rights to her mother. "My mom is my main influence. She is a very strong woman who believes in supporting strong women."

In the future, Hailey would like to continue working for non-profit organizations, particularly for the pro-choice cause.

Concerning the debates, she concluded, "we came out of them the same way we went into them."

Garden club appreciated for visits to nursing home

This month marks the beginning of the twenty-first year of the Andover Garden Club's garden therapy committee visits to the Mary Immaculate Nursing Home in Lawrence.

The committee members travel to the facility monthly, October through May, with a program of hands-on projects for the residents. An average of 30 people participate regularly, and the program is very well-received by the residents, according to Betsy Raynor, activities director at Mary Immaculate.

The focus of the committee is to involve the residents of the nursing home with garden-oriented projects. Some participants are former garden club members and others have never had the opportunity to express themselves creatively with flowers or plant life. The projects are varied to include flower arranging, horticulture and craft projects.

In 1972 the Andover Garden Club was asked to do projects with the nursing home on a regular basis. The president of the club inquired if any member would be interested in undertaking the project. Eleanor O'Bryan accepted the challenge and enlisted the help of a friend, Margaret Sullivan, and thus the two Andover Garden Club members became co-chairwomen of the garden therapy committee, a position they held for ten years.

The women were recipients in 1983 of the National Council of State Garden Clubs Award for meritorious service in garden therapy.

With fire regulations for nursing homes becoming more stringent, the committee members have been required to find materials that are acceptable to use and leave in the facility.

In September the Mary Immaculate residents held a tea to honor the garden therapy committee's twenty years of continuous service to the Nursing/Restorative Center. Angela Sapienza, President of the Resident

Council at Mary Immaculate presented a certificate of appreciation to Frances Chadwick, Chairman of Garden Therapy for the Andover Garden Club.

HAPPY 1ST

▲ Happy 1st Birthday, Irena

Her parents, Karen and Larry Kushner of 14 Brady Loop, write: "Our little pumpkin, Irena Katherine, turned one year old Oct. 27. Irena recently started walking, which is useful for chasing our two cats around the house. Plus, walking leaves her hands free to grab Lenox bowls and framed photos off the tables. Her first words are Dada, kitty cat, tree, and no (So much for Mom!)..." Happy Birthday, Irena!

OBITUARIES

Martha Haddad From Lebanon at 18

Martha (Aboshar) Haddad, 90, of 256 North Main St., died Friday, Oct. 23, at Lawrence General Hospital.

Mrs. Haddad emigrated from her native Lebanon to Lawrence in 1920 at age 18 with her two brothers, Gus and George Aboshar.

Mrs. Haddad was granted citizenship after studying for the test at night school.

She was a retired Malden Mills worker. Previously, she worked at the American Woolen Co.

She was a member of St. George Orthodox Church in Lawrence.

She was also a member of the Kabbalah Club, Ladies Society of St. George Orthodox Church and Frye Circle Association of Andover.

She was the widow of William Haddad Sr.

Family members include her son, William Haddad Jr., and daughter-in-law, Lila (Maloof) Haddad of Andover; grandchildren, Michele, Mark and John Haddad, all of Andover; and brother, Chafic Aboshar of Lebanon.

A funeral was held Monday from St. George Orthodox Church.

Burial was in United Lebanese Society Cemetery in Andover.

Arrangements were by McAuliffe Funeral Home, 137A Lawrence St., Lawrence.

Dora Kane Ancestor signed Declaration of Independence

Dora (Carroll) Kane, 84, of Methuen, died Wednesday, Oct. 21, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Mrs. Kane was born in Fulton, N.Y., and moved to Lawrence as a young girl and graduated from Lawrence High School.

She later moved to Methuen where she remained all her life. Mrs. Kane was a member of St. Monica Church.

She worked at Arlington Mills in the parachute factory and also as an industrial nurse in local mills.

Mrs. Kane was a direct descendant of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Md., a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Members of her family include sons and daughters-in-law, Robert T. and Jennie Kane of Goffstown, N.H.; Brian Kane a retired firefighter in Methuen and his wife, Linda; and her daughter, Audrey, of Andover; sister, Viola Robinson of Methuen; 10 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Mervyn T. Manning Jr. Banker, cameraman, sailor

Mervyn T. Manning Jr., 67, of 37 Porter Road, died Friday, Oct. 23, at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston.

Mr. Manning retired in December 1987 as a vice president of the commercial finance division of First National Bank of Boston. He served the bank for 35 years.

Affectionately known as "Bud" to family and friends, Mr. Manning was born in Hanover, N.H., and attended public schools in Peekskill, N.Y., until entering the U.S. Navy in 1942.

He served 5 1/2 years during and after World War II as a chief torpedo man in the Pacific, Europe and Mediterranean theaters aboard the U.S.S. Rockaway, Sloat, Shenandoah and R.L. Wilson. He was discharged in 1947.

He was a commercial photographer in the late 1940s, doing free-lance newsreel coverage for WPIX-TV in New York City and Paramount News. He covered New England for John Cameron Swazie news program, photographing Winston Churchill at M.I.T., Gov. J. Michael Curley's campaign and the 1948 World Series at Braves Field. He also made many television promotional films.

In 1952, Mr. Manning graduated cum laude from Burdett College, where he majored in accounting, and in 1962 from the Amos Tuck Business School at Dartmouth College, where he received the Executive Award.

Mr. Manning's hobbies included working on his home, which has been in his family since 1783, woodworking and building boats, which his son, Jeff, raced for many years.

Family members include his wife of 41 years, Elizabeth Turner George Manning; son, Jeffrey Manning of Andover; daughters, Jeanne E. Martini of New Ipswich, N.H., and Heidi Hrabka of Chelmsford; daughter-in-law, Deborah Manning; son-in-law, Scott Hrabka; father-in-law, Dr. Arnold George of Haverhill; sister, Anne McKeon of Peekskill, N.Y.; granddaughters, Jeanne L. Martini, Jennifer Manning and Michelle Manning.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Dole and Childs Funeral Home, 148 Main St., Haverhill. Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery in Andover.

Sunday's hike is along a portion of the Bay Circuit Trail

The Andover Chapter of the Appalachian Mountain Club plans a 5-mile hike along a portion of the Bay Circuit Trail passing through Andover on Sunday, Nov. 1.

The hike will begin through the Charles W. Ward Reservation, which is owned by The Trustees of Reservations, and then pass through three separate properties owned by AVIS, as well as a portion of the Harold Parker State Forest. AMC officials say this is "a great chance to get some exercise, learn about the Bay Circuit Trail and discover some of the natural beauty of Andover."

The public is invited to join leader George Brattin of Andover and co-leader Bay Rinker at 1:30 p.m. in the parking lot opposite the state police barracks on Route 125 in Andover just east of Route 28.

19,520-foot mountain climb

The Andover Appalachian Mountain Club invites the public to a slide show on Thursday, Nov. 5, at 6:30 p.m. in the South Church on Central Street. Rob Michaels of Andover will narrate the climb he completed last June up 19,520-foot Mt. Logan in Canada.

Refreshments will be offered following the presentation. A free will donation is requested.

Young Andover boy safe after kidnapping

rape and abuse of a child under 16, and four counts of indecent assault and battery on a child under 14. Mr. Brown was scheduled to appear in court for a status hearing on those charges on Nov. 10.

Mr. Brown allegedly kidnapped his son, a West Elementary School student, as the boy got off the school bus at the corner of Shadow Lane and Westminster Way just a few minutes after 3 on Friday afternoon, according to police.

Mr. Brown turned himself in at the Andover police station Sunday night after 48 hours of intensive work on the part of Andover detectives Donald Pattullo and James Haggerty. The two detectives were as relieved as anyone when it was over.

"They showed up at 6 o'clock, Greg Brown, the attorney and little (the boy's name)," Detective Pattullo said.

"He seemed fine," Detective Pattullo said of the boy. "He was no worse for wear. He ate a lot of junk food is what he said."

Detective Pattullo said Mr. Brown had kept the boy in a room at a Woburn motel since Friday.

The boy lives in Andover with his mother and his younger brother and the boys' stepfather. The mother and the boys' stepfather were in Hawaii last Friday, and a nanny was taking care of the children. The mother and stepfather flew all night Friday to get home early Saturday morning.

Chief James Johnson credited his detectives for their sensitive and professional handling of the case, and their tireless effort to resolve the situation as quickly as they did.

"All the footwork was really done by detectives Donny Pattullo and Jim Haggerty, and the assistant district attorney (Emmett Ballard) assigned to the case," the chief said.

Nanny watched kidnapping

The nanny, whom police did not identify, was standing on the steps of the house watching the boys get off the bus when a blue Plymouth Voyager van pulled up and Mr. Brown got out with something in his hands, she told police. The man handed the younger brother a package, then allegedly wrestled the older boy into the van.

"He grabbed (the older boy) and there was a little bit of a struggle and he put him in the van," Detective Pat-tullo said.

The nanny hadn't recognized Mr. Brown at first because he hasn't been allowed to see the children by court order for at least 10 months, according to Detective Pattullo. She ran down to the bus stop, but not before Mr. Brown allegedly sped off at a high rate of speed with his son.

A young neighborhood man witnessed the incident and chased the van toward Canterbury Street in his own car, but lost it when the school bus stopped just down the road, the van swerved around it and the youth stopped for fear of hitting another child.

The nanny took the younger brother back to the house and a neighbor called police.

Detectives Pattullo and Haggerty found the van just after 4 p.m., abandoned in the parking lot at the Andover Country Club.

"We noticed a little sneaker next to the driver's side door," Detective Pattullo said.

Detectives concluded that the boy had probably been pulled over the console and into a waiting car.

Police notified local and state police and the FBI. They called Logan, Manchester and Lawrence airports, car rental agencies, motels, hotels and any other agency they could imagine to be on the lookout for the boy and his father.

"We checked everything possible, credit cards, telephone records," Detective Pattullo said. "The problem we had is, we knew he wasn't going to be under Gregory Brown."

The package Mr. Brown had given his younger son was a birthday gift, but he had also attached a note addressed to the Andover Police Department.

"He said basically, that he didn't want any media involved and that if any pictures or stories about the kidnapping were in any TV or paper, he would go further underground," Detective Pattullo said.

Police did try to keep the story out of the media so as not to spook Mr. Brown, the detective said.

They also obtained a search warrant for Mr. Brown's Railroad Avenue apartment and his van, and a warrant for his arrest.

Detectives began phoning Mr. Brown's relatives in Indiana and California and by Friday night got in touch with a relative in California who had heard from Mr. Brown.

"We started negotiating through that party," Detective Pattullo said. "He did contact us through a relative on Saturday morning. He wanted to negotiate through them and through his attorney."

By Saturday afternoon detectives had contacted Mr. Brown's attorney, Frank Mondano, of Boston, and began negotiating through him. The attorney said he could probably get Mr. Brown to turn himself in within 48 hours, but that he didn't want his client to spend Saturday and Sunday nights in jail, according to Detective Pattullo. But the detectives told Mr. Mondano that wasn't good enough, and that it was the child's safety about which they were concerned. They told him to turn over the child immediately even if he did not turn himself in. Detective Pattullo said.

The attorney agreed, but they did not hear back that night. Sunday morning the attorney called to say Mr. Brown would turn himself in at around 5 or 6 that evening, which he did.

"As soon as they came in the door we called the mother and stepfather and they were here within 30 seconds," Detective Pattullo said.

Previous arrest

Mr. Brown is unemployed. His last job was as an executive for a company in Wilmington, according to police.

Parental kidnapping is punishable by up to five years in jail.

Mr. Brown was arrested on Aug. 22, 1991, and indicted by a grand jury on Dec. 30, 1991, on the other charges. He pleaded innocent to those charges earlier this year.

School responds

Teachers at West Elementary School Monday were encouraged to talk with their students who had questions or were upset concerning the kidnapping of their schoolmate. Teachers told students to trust their instincts if they felt uncomfortable around strangers and even friends or family members, and try to get away as quickly as they could, yell and make lots of noise when threatened.

Voters should have received an orange card before the primary telling them which precinct they are in. If a person doesn't know what precinct he or she is in, call the town clerk's office.

In the 1988 presidential election, 15,557 of Andover's 17,777 registered voters cast ballots in Andover, roughly an 88 percent turnout. But that was with a Massachusetts candidate, Mike Dukakis, on the ballot.

Andover has five residents on the ballot, four for state office and one for Congress, and that could boost the turnout again this year. (See the ballot on this page), though only about 6,000 voters turned out for the primary election last month.

There are 19,133 voters registered in Andover this year, approximately 1,350 of whom signed up since voter registration closed for the primary in August.

The voters break down to 5,864 Democrats, 4,210 Republicans, 65 Independents and 8,990 unenrolled voters.

Shuttle buses will run between the Senior Center and Andover High School on election day, leaving every 30 minutes or so beginning at 8:05 a.m. at the Senior Center and finishing at 6:27 p.m. back at the Senior Center.

The buses will go down Bartlett Street, out Chestnut to Main, down North Main Street to Frye Circle and Shawsheen Square, up Lowell Street to Shawsheen Road and over to the high school. They will then return along the same route.

This is, in part, what the ballot looks like. But the ballot will have three parts: an envelope, with spaces marked on it for write-in votes; and two cards, one for offices and a second for the four state ballot questions. (See related story on this page.)

Here's a quick look at Tuesday's four ballot questions

In addition to choosing a president, national, state and local representatives this Tuesday, Nov. 3, residents will be asked to vote on four ballot initiative petitions for a law.

If a question receives more yes than no votes - and at least 30 percent of those voting cast a yes vote, it will become law.

The following is a summary of the four questions and what a yes and a no vote will mean.

QUESTION 1

Question 1. This is a proposal to establish an additional 25-cent excise tax on cigarettes and smokeless tobacco products. The money would be collected by the state Department of Revenue under the same procedures that currently apply to the existing tax.

Yes vote: would establish a Health Protection Fund, subject to appropriation by the state Legislature, to pay for health programs relating to tobacco use as well as supplement existing funding for school health education about the hazards of tobacco use, smoking prevention and quitting programs, tobacco-related public service advertisements, maternal and prenatal programs at community health centers.

No vote: would maintain current tax levels on tobacco products and no state Health Protection Fund would be created.

QUESTION 2

Question 2. This proposal would require certain banks, insurance companies and publicly traded corporations to file annual reports to the state listing information from their state tax returns that would then be made public. The same businesses are already required to make public what they pay in federal taxes. The required information would include profit, corporate income tax due, deductions, exemptions and credits.

Yes vote: would require banks, insurance companies and large publicly-traded corporations - not individual taxpayers or small businesses - to make public what they pay in state taxes.

No vote: would not change reporting of corporate tax information or state tax expenditures.

Could voting be more private?

By Don Staruk

Some voters don't like their names and party affiliations called out loud when they go into the polling stations during elections, but those procedures are part of the security built into the voting system used in this state, according to Randy Hanson, town clerk.

Poll workers had no complaints during the September primary election, according to Ms. Hanson, when more than 6,000 voters cast their ballots at two polling locations. But the Townsmen received comments from a few residents who were concerned that poll workers were violating voters' privacy, first when they called out a voter's name and party affiliation while handing them a ballot, then by taking the ballot out of the voter's hands to place it in the ballot box instead of allowing the voter to do it his- or herself.

Announcing names

"In Massachusetts we do not require identification at elections. A lot of states do," Ms. Hanson said.

Instead, when a voter goes to the table to get a ballot, the poll worker checks the name off on the voter listing sheet and calls out the voter's name.

"The reason for that is, any voter that comes into the place can be challenged," Ms. Hanson said. "There's a challenge process in the state of Massachusetts and for these reasons, people's names are said out loud."

Any person in the polling place can question the validity of any voter's identification or party registration.

This is a check in the system, as outlined in the Massachusetts General Laws, to insure the integrity of the election, according to Ms. Hanson.

"It's just an identification check in case anybody's being fraudulent," Ms. Hanson said. "I don't think I've had a challenge since I've been here. But that's why we do it. The challenge is there in case there's a problem."

Entering the ballot

The other concern was that residents should be able to place their own ballot in the ballot box instead of handing it to a poll worker.

Ms. Hanson said that, yes, voters can put the ballot in the box themselves, but the poll workers need to pull a stub off the voting cards and make sure the cards are being tucked into the envelopes so that they stay together in the box.

"These things are to be kept together at all times," Ms. Hanson said.

This will be even more of a problem in the general election because the ballot will have three parts, an envelope, with spaces marked on it for write-in votes; and two cards, one for offices and a second for the four state ballot questions.

"I think they think (the envelope) is for privacy," Ms. Hanson said. "But it's actually part of the ballot."

If the cards aren't stuffed into the envelope pocket, before the envelope flap is closed, there is a danger that the cards may slip out and get separated from the envelopes in the box, and votes may end up not being counted. The wardens say that most people just fold the flap over on the envelope and don't tuck the cards in, Ms. Hanson said.

Finally, the ballot has to be slipped into the box with the correct side facing up so that both the envelope and the voting card are canceled by the counter in the box as they are fed into the machine.

"It's the type of election system we have that dictates a little caution with everybody to maintain the integrity of the election," Ms. Hanson said.

Murphy and Coon battle over PAC contributions

At a campaign rally outside Andover's Old Town Hall, state rep. candidate Ellen Murphy responded to a challenge by incumbent Rep. Gary Coon to connect his campaign PAC receipts with his conduct as a legislator.

Ms. Murphy cited two connections between PACs and the legislator and she released a list of some of Mr. Coon's PAC contributions.

"Forty-eight hours ago, Mr. Coon challenged me to find some connection between his special-interest campaign contributors and his actions as state representative," said Ms. Murphy. Mr. Coon challenged Ms. Murphy during a Lawrence cable television debate to connect the PACs with his votes. Ms. Murphy said she took him up on the challenge.

"Yesterday, I discovered that Mr. Coon accepted a $200 contribution from CPAC, the chiropractors' political action committee." She also learned that at the same time the Commerce and Labor Committee on which Mr. Coon sits was dealing with a workman's compensation bill. In committee there was a committee draft of the bill, which included a limit on the number of chiropractic visits that would be covered under a workman's compensation claim. Mr. Coon voted against reporting that draft out favorably for legislative action. Subsequently, the bill signed into law by Gov. Weld did not include a limit on chiropractic visits.

Upon further research, Ms. Murphy discovered that Mr. Coon had also accepted a contribution from the John Hancock Mutual Insurance Company PAC. Coincidentally, John Hancock filed a bill this year to change it from a mutual company (policy holders' control) to a stock company (investor controlled). That bill is now the law.

"Mr. Coon made PACs an issue," Ms. Murphy said. "Mr. Coon won his seat two years ago by accusing his opponent of taking PAC money and suggesting that legislators who receive PAC money knuckle under to insider abuse.

"I wonder if the same charge holds for him today. Or will he say, 'Do as I say, not as I do.' We need a legislator whose word is her bond. And who honors her commitments to the people of Andover and Lawrence," Ms. Murphy said.

"I want to represent the people of this district, not the special interests. I have the independence, energy and commitment to the job. There is a real difference between my opponent and myself. I offer you a choice for a change," she concluded.

What about tenure?

State Rep. Gary Coon said Sunday at a forum at Christ Church that the state needs to replace its system of tenure for teachers. He said he favors a system of renewable certification for teachers, so there will be "some accountability" for teachers.

Ellen Murphy, his opponent, told the Townsmen Monday that "tenure has to go but not without a good alternative that will protect good teachers." She does not favor re-certification. "We don't have it for lawyers or architects." "I favor protecting good teachers," she said. "I think that you streamline the process for dismissing under-performers. That's all being debated right now. There aren't any real hard fast proposals that answer all the concerns."

State Rep. Gary M. Coon, R-Andover, said recently his opponent's criticism of his campaign finances is an attempt to divert attention away from the issues of the campaign.

"This issue has nothing to do with what's really at stake in this election. The voters have two choices: I will continue moving government in a new direction, one where taxes go down and budgets are balanced, where economic growth is a priority and legislators are accountable and responsive to citizens. My opponent would turn back the clock. She's another liberal Democrat, ready and willing to join the establishment that has always worked so hard for the status quo," Mr. Coon said. "I think the choice is clear. I've said where I stand on the issues."

Saying that he wanted to clear the zens of Massachusetts. I voted against the Commerce and Labor Committee's worker's compensation bill because it was a bad bill. It would have hurt employees and employers. In that draft, everybody lost except the big insurance companies. The Senate tossed it out in favor of a much better piece of legislation."

Mr. Coon said the John Hancock bill referred to in Ms. Murphy's attack was a non-controversial change to statute that passed both houses unanimously. "The bill made a technical change to existing law, thereby allowing for greater financial flexibility for all insurance companies, not just John Hancock."

Mr. Coon also talked about the impact John Hancock has on jobs in this area. The company has a large service facility at Brickstone Square in Andover.

"We've been all over this issue. My finances are an open book. My campaign fully discloses every penny it receives beyond what is required by law," he said. "Ms. Murphy does not report contributions of $50 and under."

Mr. Coon characterized her attack as "a desperate attempt to save a campaign that's going nowhere. Obviously, my opponent can't find a real issue to confront me with. My record is solid. I've served the people of Andover and Lawrence well and I'll continue to work hard on issues that matter, like local aid education and economic growth."

A look at the questions

QUESTION 3

Question 3. This proposal would require all packaging used in Massachusetts after June 30, 1996, to be reduced in size, be reusable or be made of materials that have been or could be recycled. Packaging and containers used to protect, store, handle, transport, display or sell products would have to meet the new requirements. Tamper-resistant and tamper-evident seals, medication and medical devices would be subject to the proposed law.

Yes vote: would establish new packaging requirements and a five-year plan to meet new standards. Packaging would have to be made smaller, reusable, or made of recycled or recyclable materials.

No vote: would not require any packaging changes.

QUESTION 4

Question 4. This proposal would establish a tax on oil, toxic chemicals and other hazardous substances to pay for clean-up of hazardous waste sites. It would not apply to substances shipped through the state, those contained in consumer products for retail sale, or to gasoline or special engine and jet fuels already taxed under state laws.

The money raised would go, along with fees paid by hazardous waste transporters and other related money, to the state Environmental Challenge Fund to clean-up hazardous sites.

Yes vote: would establish the new tax and the money raised would be used, subject to legislative appropriation, to assess and clean up contaminated sites and enforce the new tax law.

No vote: would not create a new tax.

Visiting Nurse plans more flu clinics for seniors

Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) HomeCare of 1 Union St. offers free elderly health clinics throughout the Merrimack Valley. The clinics are conducted by VNA registered nurses and sponsored in part through town funds and through funding from the Older Americans Act as granted by Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley.

The clinics focus on preventive care and assist elders in maintaining good health through blood pressure checks, weight management and nutrition and medication counseling. The clinics are free, open to the public and handicapped accessible.

Clinics in Andover are staffed jointly by VNA HomeCare and the Andover Health Department. Clinics will be held Monday, Nov. 16, at Andover Commons and Monday, Nov. 23, at Frye Circle from 1 to 3 p.m. both days.

Call the health department at 476-3800, Ext. 255, or VNA HomeCare at 470-1615, Ext. 62, for further information.

Negotiate like an adult

Andover teachers are out of line. Today, they have an advertisement in this newspaper (page 47) in which the teachers say they will consider on Nov. 5 whether to continue working without a contract. Ask them if they intend to strike, and none of them will answer. But that is what it means. And striking means our children suffer. They already are suffering because teachers are "working to rule," following the letter of their contract, which means they don't work before or after their contract hours.

"On Thursday, Nov. 5, the teachers of Andover will consider whether or not to continue working without a contract," the ad reads. "Taking such drastic action is the last thing we teachers want to do, but the School Committee has given us no choice."

The School Committee has given them a choice: to use a mediator.

The worst part of the teachers' threat to strike is the timing. Just when the School Committee's bargaining team and the team from the teachers' union agreed to work with an independent mediator, the teachers come up with a threat to strike.

What if students decided to strike - walk out of the classroom because they didn't approve of, for example, an assignment. Wouldn't teachers expect the students to sit down and talk about the assignment in a mature manner? Walking out is immature, irresponsible and unreasonable.

We have heard there are teachers who don't agree with the hard-sell approach that the union is taking here. We know there are parents who are upset by the teachers' failure to understand Andover's tight budget. Everyone needs a better salary. Teachers are well paid. It would be good if we could pay them more. But school money is tight. Teachers got a raise in their last contract.

There are people out there who didn't get any raise; there are people who don't get a salary because they have been laid off.

It's time for the teachers to compromise. It is not time to strike.

George Cunningham, general director of the Merrimack Valley YMCA, presents Cathy Starr of Andover with the Volunteer of the Year Award at the Y's annual volunteer recognition dinner, held last week in Methuen. Ms. Starr has given more than four years of volunteer service to the Y with more than 462 hours. She "always gives 100 percent, at times disrupting family schedules and home life," according to the Y. Ms. Starr has recruited other volunteers for the YMCA, also.

Parents want to talk, but they're worried

By Perry Colmore Catlin

"Dear Townsmen editor. Like many parents who were quoted in (the Oct. 15) Townsmen, I do not wish my name to be used out of concern that my children would be affected. But I have strong feelings about the Andover public school teachers and their self-centered attitudes.

"I have been generally pleased with the teachers and the education that my three children (two at West Elementary and one at West Middle) have received. But the teachers do not go out of their way to do anything extra for the children. The teachers refuse to be present at recess or in the cafeteria. The students are out of the classrooms several times a day for music, art and gym, so the teachers actually have their students for only about five hours daily."

That is the start of an unsigned letter we received recently. We have another unsigned letter, also from a parent about the teachers. While newspapers don't like to use unattributed information, sometimes we don't feel we have the right to withhold information that is pertinent and relevant to what's happening in the community.

Right now, Andover teachers are working without a contract. They say the raise the School Committee offered isn't enough. They are saying you get what you pay for. The School Committee says it doesn't have money to offer a raise to teachers.

Here is the rest of the parent's letter that I was quoting:

"Teachers are off every weekend and holiday, a week in both February and April, 10 days at Christmas, and six or seven weeks in the summer.

"In my job, I have only two weeks of vacation each year so it is hard for me to feel overly sympathetic for these people. Many professionals must take in-service training on weekends or evenings, but teachers are able to cancel school for this purpose. At West Elementary, parents are asked to cover classes for several days so that teachers can go to writing courses. Can't they take these courses on one of their many days off?

"Decent salaries for teachers are deserved, but our children deserve a more giving attitude from their teachers." That letter was signed "Andover parent."

Another letter, signed "Anonymous or a Dissatisfied Parent," began, "As a parent of several school-aged children, I thought my husband and I had picked the best educational system we have but we have been sadly disappointed. Before moving to this town we heard people rave over the quality of the curriculum but we have witnessed an outdated language arts program called AIRS. Yes, the test scores in Andover are high but at what price? It reminds me of my education 35 years ago cranking out skills, being bored on a daily basis.

"I have been waiting to be impressed if not by curriculum then by teachers. That also has fallen short. There are some very insecure teachers (at least in our particular school) that cannot accept parent participation except in the peripheral activities of the school. Are we so threatening to them or is there something going on they'd rather us not see?"

"Out of the teachers my three children got this year only one is under 60 years old. There are many old school practices from discipline to teaching style that accompany these teachers. Their patience has been spent many years ago. They need to

Better attend Town Meeting

Editor, Townsmen:

What would you do if you took your kids to the Lawrence Cinema and you realized the roof was leaking ... there was a smell of creosote in the air that made your daughter's eyes burn ... the temperature in the lobby was 98 degrees, and in the theater it was 35 degrees ... there was mold growing on the walls ... and when your son went to the rest room he gagged because of the lack of a ventilation system?

I suggest you would storm the door, demand your money back and maybe even throw your popcorn at an innocent usher just to express your disgust. Even the short two hours it would have taken Kevin Costner to win the girl and kill the bad guys would be too long a time to subject your kids to that kind of unsafe and unhealthy atmosphere.

If you have children in the Andover school system, especially West Middle School, West Elementary or Bancroft, you are subjecting them to exactly those kind of conditions every school day of every school year. The good news is, we finally have an opportunity to correct it all. But you have to come to the Special Town Meeting on Nov. 9 to do it.

The school building warrant article to bond $2.4 million for emergency school repairs will fix these problems. This warrant article is the result of an intense cooperative effort by parents, the School Committee, the superintendent, the town manager, the selectmen and the Finance Committee over the past year. This article will not increase your taxes and it does not require an override.

In recent years we have all cried out to our political leaders for creative ways to cure the ills that plague us. No more business as usual. No more raising taxes. As far as addressing health and safety issues in our school buildings, this article is a positive response to those demands.

The problems as described above

make room for new, innovative teachers.

"I read the paper daily about the job action agreed to by our educators and get angry instead of supportive. The only ones losing are the children they are supposed to care so much about.

"Because of my own professional background I would be the first person to support a pay increase for those teachers who truly deserve it and I'm sure there are many. On the other hand, there are too many who are given protection under tenure, creating a system with a lot of dead wood.

"Given my experiences and those of are real. People around town are saying that common sense and common decency dictate that these repairs be made immediately so we no longer expose Andover's children to these health and safety risks. But alas, the decision must survive the political process. If you stay home and assume that everyone else will surely come out to support this article, you may still be having classroom ceiling tiles falling on your kids' heads for at least six more years.

The question is: Do you want to make the decisions on your child's health and safety or do you want to leave it to a capricious political process in an auditorium where some Halloween goblins may still linger? Nov. 9, 7 p.m. The Collins Center. Your kids.

Andover isn't handicapped friendly

Editor, Townsmen:

A bad accident which had injured me severely after I, a pedestrian, was hit by a car in July, necessitated in late September, after my return from three hospitals, the use of a wheelchair. This wheelchair was used to give me a chance to drive or rather be driven from my apartment on Maple Avenue to places such as CVS or the Andover Savings Bank on Main Street. Home Care help had a very hard time helping with such endeavors: A) The sidewalks on Maple Avenue are full of holes and uneven pavement (on both sides). B) Hardly any good "accesses" there nor even at the corner of Elm Street, Maple Avenue and Main Street. C) Such poor accesses in front of some shops or the bank.

Andover, a truly attractive town, can then hardly offer the pleasure of being enjoyed by anyone who is in need of a wheel chair and handicapped. As this also is an affluent town, it may my children over the past weeks of school, the teachers we've met, the lack of warmth and friendliness and the guarded nature of the school domain by many has not endeared us to the issues of the teachers.

"Andover is not exempt from the ills of other school systems although that's what the teachers and administrators would like us to think. It is my opinion that Andover educators have an over-inflated sense of themselves and need to address more than money."

That parent added a P.S.: "I don't feel signing this would result in anything but harm to my children daily in school."

be time to remedy this unfortunate condition. Not everyone who lives in or near Andover has or drives a car, hence there is a need for far better kept up pedestrian sidewalks.

This then is true for the winter time as well as when downpours collect in the sidewalks' holes, which impede the pedestrian plus the unfortunate user of a wheelchair. It's time for a change!

Parking ticket was like a 'slap in the face'

Editor, Townsmen:

I am writing to request a hearing on a parking violation #064915 which I received today at Memorial Hall Library. (Note date on tickets says 10/1/92.)

I was dropping off several hundred books donated to Friends of the Library from St. Augustine's Church library. We had called earlier in the day and were told to come to the children's desk to request the custodian. I had pulled into a 30-minute meter, which had just been vacated - the car was still backing out. I saw the violation flag and I also saw the Cushman making his way around the next division.

I ran in to request the custodian, which could not have taken more than half a minute at the most, and returned to my car to find the officer writing a ticket. I told him I was dropping off donated books, but he continued to write.

When the custodian came out and saw how many books I had, he had me drive up to the delivery door. When I told him my plight with the ticket, he suggested I take it over to the police station, which I did. I was told there I had no alternative but to request a hearing.

I am sure the custodian or the woman at the desk in the Children's Room would corroborate the facts as far as they were involved.

According to the violation time, 12:45, I moved my car to the delivery area, helped carry in books, about 10 grocery bags full, went to the police station and waited my turn and arrived home by 1 p.m., even letting the Cushman make a U turn from in front of the Spa. Does that seem like I was really violating a parking meter?

It was like a slap in the face after loading and unloading those books as a service to my community.

Helen M. Dehm
29 Wolcott Ave.

P.S. I had thought of pulling up to the door with the books but figured it would have been more of a hazard than to pull into the parking area.

Protecting Andover's water

Third in a series written by members of the Andover Water Conservation Commission.

By Katherine Kloss

As discussed in an earlier article, the town of Andover receives its water supply from a combination of Haggetts Pond, Fish Brook and the Merrimack River. Each of these sources has a tributary area that is the watershed for the source.

Simply stated, if one followed the course of a rain drop, the ending point would be a pond, lake or some other surface water body. This flow could be overland or by infiltration into the underlying ground water. The ground water aquifer may then feed the surface water supply. The boundary of the watershed would be the dividing line where that rain drop would continue to flow to the source, for example, Haggetts Pond. Just beyond this line, the rain drop would flow into another adjacent watershed. The watershed areas for Haggetts Pond and Fish Brook are approximately 2 1/4 and 4 square miles, respectively.

Given the areas of the watersheds and other information such as the storage volume of the receiving body and data on precipitation, evaporation, infiltration and exfiltration, the yield of the watershed can be estimated. For public water supply purposes, the yield of a surface water source is defined as the quantity of water that can be reliably withdrawn from the surface water body and its watershed during an identified historical drought condition. Andover uses the worse drought on record that occurred in the 1960s for this purpose. The dependable yield of Haggetts Pond is 1 million gallons per day.

Actions within the watersheds can affect the ultimate quality of the water at the source. For example, roadway runoff can include small amounts of oil and grease. Water infiltration into the ground can pick up fertilizer and septic contamination that can discharge into the surface water as exfiltration. It is important to control activities within a watershed to limit the potential for serious contamination or long-term water quality degradation. Through the efforts of the town, Conservation Commission, Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS) to purchase watershed land and protect wetlands, subdivision/zoning regulations developed by the Planning Board and septic system regulations and management by the Board of Health, Andover's water quality has been protected.

One way for the town to control activities within the watersheds is to own the land. Andover has a history of taking this proactive measure and now approximately 30 percent of the Haggetts Pond watershed and approximately 40 percent of the Fish Brook watershed is owned by the town or AVIS. Throughout the 1950s and 1960s land was purchased by the town through the Conservation Commission and by AVIS to preserve open space as well as protect the water supply. The person who was the major impetus for the AVIS efforts was Harold Rafton. On the town's side, the credit is owed to Virginia Hammond for her work on the Conservation Commission and the Planning Board.

AVIS actively purchased land along the riverbank of Fish Brook to protect it. The voters at the 1967 Town Meeting authorized bonding that funded through the Conservation Commission the purchase of additional land along the Fish Brook bank to protect the town water supply. In 1974 the town purchased land in the Haggetts Pond watershed and later received state monies for part of the purchase. The Planning Board developed a watershed protection overlay district in the mid 1980s. The accompanying zoning bylaws prohibit the location of landfills and the storage of salt within the watershed boundaries. Also, no building, structure, land-disturbing activities, excavation or fill is allowed within 50 feet of all waterbodies and watercourses.

Control of the activities in the watersheds should continue. People living or traveling within the watersheds should be aware of their activities and the potential detrimental effects to Andover's water supply. The town is aware of the potential for contamination and is continually looking for additional land to purchase in the watersheds to assure long-term protection of our water supply.

TOWNTALK

The kicker was that when she asked her son who he was going to vote for, he admitted he hadn't yet made up his mind.

This is not a first for the Washburns. In 1988, her son was traveling in Spain and his mother sent a ballot there. And Ms. Washburn's brother is James Lilley, former ambassador to China and currently assistant secretary of defense for international security traveling "somewhere in India," according to his sister.

"I hope he's got his absentee ballot," Ms. Washburn said.

We had a call Tuesday afternoon from Andover resident Sharon Provencher, who said she'd seen and followed in her car a moose about mid-day. It was near Shawsheen School, she reported. She followed it until it went into a backyard on Corbett Street.

The police said they had reports from people who also saw the moose. Townsmen photographer Matthew Sapientza heard the report and went in pursuit but returned and reported he'd been on a "wild moose hunt."

The police said it was first spotted in North Andover; it was seen on Route 125, Route 114, at Den Rock Park; and then a motorist told police he almost hit the moose on North Main Street near Route 495. It then was reported in the Shawsheen Heights area and the last report was from the Greenwood Road area, near Route 495, at about 2:15.

Ken Mahony faces ouster in Portsmouth

By Don Staruk

Former Andover town manager Kenneth Mahony faces possible dismissal this week from his position as city manager in Portsmouth, N.H. A council vote on whether to dismiss or suspend Mr. Mahony was scheduled for last night, Wednesday, Oct. 21, after the Townsmen went to press.

Mr. Mahony, 56, of Portsmouth, offered to resign last week after allegations against him peaked with three nights of closed-door public hearings by Portsmouth city councilors. But the offer was rejected by councilors because it was too generous in Mr. Mahony's favor, they said. Mr. Mahony wanted 14 months severance pay when his contract entitles him to only six, and reimbursement for unused sick days that councilors did not think he was entitled to.

Councilors scheduled a vote on whether to dismiss or suspend Mr. Mahony for Monday night of this week, but canceled it after the city's attorney warned that the meeting may have been posted incorrectly. It was rescheduled for last night.

John McMaster, Portsmouth city councilor, said this week that an acceptable resignation from Mr. Mahony before Wednesday's meeting would be best for all parties involved.

"We hope that he'll resign before tomorrow night," Mr. McMaster said Tuesday.

The council could vote for termination, with cause, meaning all the reasons for the termination would be made public. Mr. McMaster said.

If he resigns, that would mean the council would have to pay him for the next 14 months, "everybody," the councilor said.

A secret 50-page report on Mr. Mahony's behavior was compiled by Bill Scott, city attorney, at the request of the council following complaints about Mr. Mahony's behavior toward a female councilor and several city employees, according to published reports. The allegations include his making sexist and racist slurs, and violating the city charter. Several persons, some from Andover, testified in front of the council regarding Mr. Mahony's character and past behavior.

Mr. Mahony has been accused of making a demeaning comment to a female councilor, according to one councilor, and a racist comment that, "for a white woman, she is really dumb," according to the reports. He has also been accused of having a company owned by a councilor perform work on a city-owned building, an alleged violation of the city charter. But allegations involving Mr. Mahony while he was Andover's town manager have also come up during the investigation into his character.

One of those allegations is that Mr. Mahony was involved in a sex discrimination or harassment suit with a female employee while in Andover. But the only suits that Gerald Silverman, selectman throughout Mr. Mahony's tenure here, could remember involved the dismissals of former senior center director, Dorothy Winn, and former Department of Community Services director, Joan Pearson. Both women alleged they were fired because they were women, and the town did make a settlement out of court in at least one of those cases in order to avoid a costly court case, Mr. Silverman said. But both dismissals were made at the direction, or with the support, of the Board of Selectmen, Mr. Silverman said.

Another allegation claims Mr. Mahony was being investigated by the Massachusetts attorney general's Department of Integrity while Andover's town manager, according to published reports. Mr. Mahony has claimed he knew nothing about that investigation until questioned about it by councilors last week. The state attorney general's office will neither confirm nor deny the report because no charges were brought. Mr. Silverman said no such investigation occurred to his knowledge.

"Not that I'm aware of. Not without me being aware of it," Mr. Silverman said.

But Mr. Mahony could be difficult with some people, Mr. Silverman said.

"He wasn't a people person. He also has difficulty in losing patience with people, in getting things done," Mr. Silverman said.

Still, Mr. Silverman thought Mr. Mahony was just what Portsmouth needed for the redevelopment of Pease Air Force Base.

"He was very efficient. He did a lot," Mr. Silverman said.

'Ken's problem is that sometimes he shoots before he should, and in this case, he shot the wrong person.'

Mr. Silverman said the slurs attributed to Mr. Mahony were not typical of his behavior here.

"We never heard anything, a comment like that, here," Mr. Silverman said.

Mr. Silverman said he and Charles Wesson were re-elected four years ago when they supported Mr. Mahony and their opposition did not.

"He left here on his own. He was not fired," Mr. Silverman said. "Ken's problem is that sometimes he shoots before he should, and in this case, he shot the wrong person."

PAUL CRONIN's plan:

Create Jobs, Cut the Deficit, Reform Congress.

Paul Cronin will fight to:

- Create jobs in the private sector and freeze federal employment immediately; provide more capital for small businesses; establish R&D tax credits and investment tax credits; establish enterprise zones to revitalize our inner cities.
- Attack the federal deficit (a tax on our children's future) through a balanced-budget amendment, a presidential line-item veto, and early retirement for 100,000 federal employees.
- Reform Congress through term limits, reduced congressional staffs, immediate repeal of automatic congressional pay raises, and a 10 percent per year cut in Congress's own budget until the national budget is balanced.

Paul Cronin opposes:

- Martin Meehan's $300 billion tax increase (nearly $1,200 for every person in America).
- Martin Meehan's $80 billion tax on gasoline and home heating fuel.
- Martin Meehan's 50 percent cut in defense spending, that will cost thousands of Fifth District jobs and jeopardize crucial high-tech programs that form the bedrock of Massachusetts' economy.

Vote PAUL CRONIN

for Congress on November 3rd.

Under 14 Division

Andover Lions 1 - Peabody Kickers 1

The Lions gave up an early goal and then played the Kickers evenly the rest of the half. The Lions had the better offensive chances. The defense, anchored by sweeper Dan Kulp, turned the Kickers away. At 28 minutes the Lions' attack forced a corner. David Sullivan's kick was cleared by a Peabody defender to Shaun Connors who passed to the running Sullivan who finished to the weak post.

Booster of the week: Dan Kulp, Scott Petersen, Peter Ellis, Matt Kavanaugh and Ross Fenton.

Andover Raiders 2 - Beverly 5

Philip DiBlasi scored the first goal unassisted to the corner. Alex Tommasino scored in the second half on a penalty kick after a great offensive effort by Jason DerAnanian, DiBlasi and Kirk Larson which led to the penalty kick.

BOW: Brent Sinawawski and Kirk Larson.

Amesbury/Newburyport 4 - Andover Blast 0

Amesbury scored twice on rebounds in front of the goal near the 10-minute mark.

Amesbury continued to pressure the Andover goal in the second half and scored on a rebound in close and a penalty kick with only minutes to play.

Andover made a great team effort against a bigger and more skilled team who had scored a 9-0 win over Andover in their previous meeting.

Fullbacks Christina Arcidy, Kyrie and Taliser Avery and Ginger Hsu, halfback Kolleen Cronin and goalies Katherine Blais and Heather Young deserve special credit for extra effort.

And. Gladiators 1 - Amesbury/Newburyport 1

Justin LeCam, James Butler and Andy Wood had several shots on goal in the first half but could not score. Philipp Risseuw made three key saves in goal. Amesbury scored early in the second half, but Andover tied the game with 15 minutes left when Damian Dolan scored with an assist from Patrick Coleman. Blake McCauley, Matt Brooks, Jimmy Chu and Jeff Danis made many great defensive plays. Phillip Ayoub was superb in goal and was injured preventing a sure goal. Mike Monteiro volunteered to play goalie with 10 minutes left in the game. Midfielders Mike DenHartog, Philipp Risseuw and David Maragioglio made several key passes, but Andover was unable to score.

BOW: Phillip Ayoub, Mike Monteiro and Patrick Coleman.

Andover Junior Warriors 3 - Groveland 1

Andover attempted more than 40 shots on goal to only three shots to Groveland, but Groveland "packed" the penalty area to keep Andover's scoring down. Andover's goals were scored by Vicki Pierce (two, assisted on one by Jesse Smith with a perfect pass) and Sarah Muller. The defense of Barb Contos, Vickie Pierce, Erin Baggereor and Brenna O'Connor, led by Kaitlin Dargan, and goalie Megan Burke, her first time in goal, played superbly. The goal allowed was the first of the season in league play and was scored with primarily offensive players playing defense.

Blazers 8 - Boxford 1

The Blazers quickly jumped on the board when Michelle Crispo's outlet pass to Alexa Kokinos was crossed to Stephanie Banos for the score. Alexa then crossed to Sarah Plamondon, whose shot deflected off the goalie to Jennie Murnane who knocked the ball in the net. Jennie (two), Alexa and Sarah added four more goals with assists to Hannah Edmands, Sarah, Alexa and Jen. Lauen Martin assisted Anne Marie Paone and Stephanie Banos scored unassisted to close the scoring. Maura Witbold, Heather Rybicki, Sarah Walker and Jenna Hartwell played well defensively while Samantha Witman and Amanda Piercy controlled midfield.

BOW: Catherine Ostrofsky, Meghan McDougall and Caitlin O'Connor.

Under 12 Division

Chili 5 - Peru 2

Chili controlled the game from the start with a 3-1 half-time lead. Jeff Olander scored three times on assists from Ryan Slavin, Jordan Klein and Chris Brown, and Klein and Ryan Nelson scored unassisted. Peru goals were scored by Matthew Arcidy, from Stephan Buba, and James Farrah, on a pass from Scott DeCourcy.

BOW: Geoff Schwarz, Mike Welsh and Ryan Rucki (Chili).

Brazil 0 - Egypt 0

This exciting game was evenly played to a scoreless finish. Egypt accomplished the task of shutting down Brazil's offense which had won all its previous games.

BOW: Kevin Hess, Stephen Liu and Jeffrey Kearns (Brazil); Bobby Reddy, Evan Telios and Ken Johnson (Egypt).

Australia 2 - Canada 1

Teams traded first-half goals. Chris Therrien scored the game-winner in the fourth quarter on a pass from Sean Murphy. Ted Deinnocentis, assisted by Tim Stitham, scored Australia's first goal. David Mayer, assisted by Brian Crowley, scored for Canada.

BOW: Andy Timko, Michael Mulcahey and Mike Zizzo (Australia); Apurva Chandra, Ed Boulanger and Tim Witt (Canada).

England 0 - Italy 0

The excellent defense in this game resulted in a scoreless tie.

BOW: Mike Lewis, Greg Smilowitz and Gregg Stamm (Italy).

Argentina 4 - Germany 2

Both teams played aggressively to a two-goal halftime tie, but Argentina scored twice in the fourth quarter on goals from Craig Parker, one unassisted and one from Scott Mackin. Mackin had scored Argentina's first two goals, both assisted by Parker. Matthew Stephens scored both of Germany's goals, one unassisted and one assisted by David Powers.

BOW: Josh Garick, Adrian Purdy and Ben Urbelis (Argentina); Michael Beliveau, Jim Connor and Erik Green (Germany).

L.A. Gears 2 - Adidas 1

Erin O'Brien scored the Adidas' goal in the first quarter, assisted by Laurie Willey and Laura Fish. L.A. Gears' Jessie Ellis tied it in the second quarter off a pass from Kelly Walsh. Great goaltending by Adidas' Carmen DeMarco kept the score tied through the third quarter. L.A. Gears' Kelly Walsh scored off the post in the fourth quarter, assisted by Jill Nathan.

BOW: Jennifer Boyce and Lynn Tylus (Adidas); Monica Everett and Liz Connors (L.A. Gears).

Integrity.

It is the foundation upon which Andover teachers have built one of the finest public school systems in Massachusetts.

Now, a lack of integrity on the part of the School Committee threatens to bring that system to a halt.

On Thursday, November 5, the teachers of Andover will consider whether or not to continue working without a contract. Taking such drastic action is the last thing we teachers want to do, but the School Committee has given us no choice.

During 10 months of negotiations, the School Committee promised us that once state funds became available our contract would be settled.

During 10 months of negotiations – and even after our old contract expired – Andover teachers took the School Committee at its word, continued to bargain in good faith, and continued to perform all contractual duties and voluntary activities.

In September, Andover received $492,000 in additional state education aid.

In September, Andover teachers found out we'd been lied to.

At the last bargaining session, the School Committee offered teachers a $400 bonus – the equivalent of $2.16 per day – an amount the Committee knows is not adequate to settle the contract.

In response, teachers have felt compelled to withhold certain voluntary activities.

But the impasse continues. And our patience is nearly exhausted.

It is not just a question of money. It is a question of fairness and integrity.

Teachers have offered to resume bargaining any time, any place, and for however long it takes to reach a settlement. Thus far, the Committee's attorney has offered to meet for only 90 minutes and not until November 3.

We need YOUR help to end this crisis!

Call your School Committee representatives today and urge them to reach a fair and equitable settlement with the teachers. School Committee members and their phone numbers are:

Youngster skates in Fall Festival of Ice Champions

Jamie Kaplan, a fifth-grader at Sanborn School, will be a featured skater in the 1992 Fall Festival of Ice Champions at the Wallace Civic Center in Fitchburg this weekend. The shows are Friday, Oct. 30, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 31, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Jamie was the 1991 New England Juvenile Girls' champion and 1992 Bay State Games gold medalist. She was a silver medalist in the Intermediate Ladies at Cranberry Open this summer and won the Intermediate Ladies at the Boston Open last month.

Jamie was featured with Sara Edwards on Channel 7 during last winter's Olympic coverage in a story about a young skater. She skated in an Evening with Champions at Harvard University and will again be a soloist this year on Sunday, Nov. 8, at 1 p.m. An Evening with Champions is a fund-raiser for the Jimmy Fund.

Jamie is coached at the Skating Club of Boston by Julie Graham and Tom McGinnis. She trains six days a week and also studies ballet at the Boston Ballet School.

Tourney-bound boys' soccer team regained first place for 48 hours

By Rick Harrison

The tourney-bound Andover High boys' soccer team regained first place in the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division for 48 hours last week, then tumbled back into second where the Golden Warriors are destined to finish this season.

AHS vaulted past defending division champ Lowell by one point after the Red Raiders were knocked off by Tewksbury (3-1), but two nights later LHS returned to the top with a key 2-0 triumph over Andover.

Lowell then officially (mathematically) clinched the title with regular season ending victories over strong Billerica (2-1) and weak Methuen.

The Red Raiders closed at 13-1-4 for 30 points, and the best Andover can do is 29 points.

Coach Dave Amundsen's squad whitewashed always-dangerous Wilmington 2-0 last week, and had a scheduled weekend night game against Tewksbury postponed by rain.

AHS was listed to play third-place Billerica earlier this week, with hopes of avenging a 3-0 loss suffered Oct. 6, and the makeup game with Tewksbury has been tentatively rescheduled for next Monday (Nov. 2).

Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament pairings will be released soon, with the Warriors expected to begin play in the single-elimination tourney next week.

This will be Andover's 15th tournament appearance in Amundsen's 18 years as coach.

Josh Nelken, although shut out last week, continued to lead the team in scoring through 16 games with 12 goals and five assists for 17 points. Quang Nguyen was right behind at 7-9-16, and Keith Selvitelli is also in double figures at 7-4-11.

Andover, 2-0

Pesky Wilmington (3-11-2), fresh off a 2-1 upset of Small School Division champion Tewksbury, did not fall easily.

"We didn't play well, probably looking ahead to the Lowell game, but we survived," said Coach Amundsen.

Senior midfielder Keith Selvitelli got the Warriors off to a flying start, scoring his seventh goal off an indirect kick in the opening minute of play.

But it remained only 1-0 until junior forward Quang Nguyen, who set up the Selvitelli score, netted the insurance goal with 10 minutes remaining in the game.

Nguyen's seventh goal was assisted by senior midfielder John Martin.

Senior goaltender and Captain Matt Reghitto made four saves en route to the team's fourth straight shutout, fifth in six games and ninth of the season.

Also cited for strong efforts were senior John Desmond, playing his first full game at sweeper, junior midfielder Dave Poulo and midfielder Dan Bucholtz.

Andover outshot Wilmington 10-4.

Lowell, 2-0

Quick and athletic Lowell regained the top spot by completing a season series sweep of Andover (2-1 on Oct. 1).

Al Koroma netted both goals in the final 20 minutes of the showdown under the lights at Cawley Stadium in Lowell.

"We played well but they're extremely quick," said Coach Amundsen. "We dominated play in the first half, and stayed head-to-head with them in the second half, but their kid (Koroma) made a couple of fine individual moves to beat us."

"He launched an 18-yard shot on the first goal midway through the second half. On the second goal we had him covered like a blanket, surrounded by three of our guys, but he still got through somehow and volleyed the ball," explained Coach Amundsen.

Koroma, who has 14 goals this season, also came through with the game-winner late in the official title-clinching 2-1 triumph over Billerica two days later.

"We passed the ball well most of the night, and had some solid chances in the first half including a corner by John Martin that was very close. But Lowell covered our forwards well."

"I think the loss to Tewksbury fired them up," admitted Coach Amundsen. "And it might have given us a false sense of security."

Both Matt Reghitto and Lowell keeper Patrick Farmer finished with six saves, the Red Raiders managing a slim 8-6 shooting edge.

Koroma's first goal snapped the Warriors' shutout string at four games and just under 400 consecutive minutes. The two goals were only the second and third surrendered by AHS over a seven-game stretch.

Andover freshmen

Alex Dalis led the assault with three goals, Ryan Turner netted a pair, and single tallies for the once-beaten Warrior frosh were added by Scott Callahan, Will Cohen and Ryan Hadley. Erik Dubasak had two assists, Jason Nicholson one and Jon Germain one.

Pop Warner Football Conference seeks to start program in Andover

The Pop Warner Football Conference Of Eastern Mass. is looking for anyone interested in starting a Pop Warner Football and Cheerleading Program in the Andover/North Andover area for the 1993 season. The P.W.F.C.E.M. is always looking for new programs to come join the 38 other area communities in the conference.

Pop Warner Football and Cheerleading is the oldest national youth sport organization in the country, started in 1929 in Philadelphia. Today there are over 300,000 children between the ages of 7-14 participating in the fun and excitement.

Pop Warner provides a national organization with rules and regulations including age and weight divisions for fairness of play and safety factors. In addition, Pop Warner provides a national insurance program, scholastic achievement awards, and national championship play-offs for both football and cheerleading.

Local Pop Warner officials will assist anyone wanting to start a program in their community. For more information you can call 640-0167 or write to: P.W.F.C.E.M., P.O. Box 931, Andover, MA 01810.

Dave Tucker plays football in Switzerland

By Rick Harrison

Dave Tucker of Andover is currently taking college courses and playing football in Geneva, Switzerland.

Tucker, a former standout football player at Andover High, is spending the first semester of his junior year at Denison (Ohio) University studying in Switzerland at the University of Geneva.

While working out in the weight room near the university he was approached to play for a senior American-style football team whose athletes range in age from 19 to 40 years.

Tucker accepted and is now a member of the Black Panthers, a team based in the town of Thonon located in the French-speaking part of Switzerland.

Head Coach Pat Gregory is a French Canadian, and in one sense Tucker has returned home because the Black Panthers use the same basic offensive formations as Andover High.

This Dave enjoys after converting to the single wing at Denison.

The plays are all in French, but the quarterback quickly repeats each play in English for David's benefit just before the team breaks the huddle.

Tucker, a running back for the Panthers, scored his first touchdown recently during a pre-season exhibition game.

Dave reported to his parents, Mike and Sue Tucker of 6 Farrwood Drive, that his teammates are great and he is thoroughly enjoying the experience.

Dave's older brother, Mark, who starred in basketball and baseball at Andover High, also has international athletic experience after playing semi-pro baseball while residing in Australia for a brief period two years ago.

The elder Tucker is currently living in Los Angeles where he is trying to break into the movie and entertainment industry.

Girls' volleyball team tries to end season above .500 mark

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity volleyball team, heading down the home stretch of its 1992 season, stood 8-9 after bowing to Chelmsford 2-0 and blanking both Haverhill and Tewksbury 2-0 last week.

The Lady Warriors are trying to finish the season above .500, and attempting to nail down third place in the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division, with closing wins over Wilmington and Dracut this week.

The finale against powerful Small School Division co-leader Dracut, 16-2 overall, is scheduled for this evening as part of the fifth annual Chelmsford Volleyball Night at Chelmsford High.

Andover will battle the Middies in the opening match of an attractive

For an application or more information, call the American Cancer Society at 851-4870.

Athletes recognized at Andover High

The Andover Athletic Department has begun a program to recognize outstanding achievement each month by student athletes.

This recognition can include on-field achievements as well as community service.

The following student/athletes have been recognized.

Becky Levine - Senior

Becky is a member of the Girls Varsity Soccer team. During her summer vacation, she painted a spirit mural in the girls locker room. This mural has been enjoyed and appreciated by her teammates and will be enjoyed by future teams using that area.

Becky was able to raise funds and received donations from local busi-

Josh Nelkin - Senior

Josh is the leading scorer on the Boys Varsity Soccer team. Josh was recommended by Coach Amundsen for not only his outstanding play, but also for his leadership on and off the field. Josh was a member of the State Champion Baseball team last spring.

Kerry Haggerty - Senior

Kerry is a member of the Girls Volleyball team and serves as the team captain. She has had an outstanding season and has been a major force in girls basketball and track throughout her high school career.

All athletes-of-the-month will have their pictures placed in the gym during the school year.

Matt Adams plays hockey for Merrimack

Andover resident Matt Adams is a sophomore left wing on the 1992-93 Merrimack College ice hockey team, which opened its season last weekend with a stirring come-from-behind 5-4 victory over Western Michigan University.

The 5'11", 175-pound Adams, a psychology major who graduated from Pingree School and played in several Hockey Night in Boston Tournaments before enrolling at Merrimack, appeared in 29 Warrior games last year and finished with two goals, three assists for five points.

The swift forward scored his first collegiate goal in a 5-4 win over Kent State last November.

At Pingree, located in Hamilton, Adams was team MVP in 1990-91 and set a single season school scoring record of 84 points.

He was a New England Prep School first-team All-Star selection that year.

Lady Warriors tie Dracut, JVs beat them

The Andover High varsity field hockey team battled Eastern Mass. Tournament qualifier Dracut (8-3-3 record) to a 3-3 standoff in its only game last week.

That result set the Lady Warriors' overall record at 4-8-3.

Coach Sandy Lunt's crew, winless through three games (0-2-1) after going the previous three without a loss (2-0-1), was scheduled to complete the 1992 season this week against first place Tynsboro (11-1-2) and Lawrence High (5-5-3).

The Lawrence game is a makeup of last week's rainout.

Andover, which began the week seventh in the Merrimack Valley Conference standings, did not qualify for the tournament this fall.

With Jen Batts, Sarah Witham and Melissa Letch leading the attack, Andover is the fourth best offensive team in the league with 19 goals. However, the Lady Warriors are last in defense with 32 goals against.

Andover JVs

The AHS junior varsity improved to 7-2-5 with a 1-0 triumph over Dracut.

Lauren Gregg scored the loan goal, Amanda Halperin assisted, goaltender Kathleen Harris notched her ninth shutout, and other standouts were Noele Kramer and Rebecca Gordon.

Christine Durant's goal late in the game enabled the junior varsity to edge Tewksbury 1-0. Lori Nelson set up the goal, Kathleen Harris posted the shutout, and defensive leaders were Melissa Pino and Sarah Weir.

The JVs also dropped a 1-0 decision to North Andover despite fine efforts by Christine Mueller, Jackie LeMaitre and goalie Kathleen Harris.

Andover High School's cheerleading squad pumped the audience up at last Friday's pep rally. Their enthusiasm must have worked whereas the football team won the game against Haverhill later on that evening.

AHS beats Haverhill; could end up in another 'game-of-the-year'

By Rick Harrison

Barring an upset this weekend, the Andover High football team will once again be involved in the Merrimack Valley Conference "Game-of-the-Year" in early November.

Last fall it was a championship showdown with Chelmsford late in the season, a game the Lions won 19-10 on Nov. 15 after AHS star running back Alan Guibord went down with an injury in the first half.

The Golden Warriors were undefeated at the time (7-0-0) and appeared headed for the MVC title and a berth in the new Eastern Mass. Division 2-A playoffs. Instead it was the Lions that finished unbeaten and went to the post-season game.

Last week the conference standings spread out more, undefeated Billerica (6-0-0) continuing to stand alone at the top with once-beaten Andover (4-1-0) moving into sole possession of second place.

Both teams are favored to win this Saturday afternoon, Andover playing its first afternoon game of the season at Wilmington (3-3-0) and Billerica traveling to Haverhill (3-3-0) to face a Hillies' squad that hasn't scored in two weeks.

Assuming both the Indians and Warriors prevail, it sets up a gigantic showdown a week from tomorrow, Nov. 6 under the newly-installed lights at Marshall Middle School in Billerica (7:15 p.m.).

AHS could conceivably tie for first place with victories this Saturday and at Billerica.

The remainder of the season is certainly no cakewalk, however, with Chelmsford (4-2-0), North Andover (5-1-0) and Thanksgiving Day rival Central Catholic (4-2-0) yet to come.

Last weekend Head Coach Dick Collins' club put together its fourth straight solid performance, defensive coordinator Joe Iarrobino's unit shining once again in a 14-0 triumph over visiting Haverhill at Lovely Field.

Andover has not allowed more than one touch down in any of its first five games, registering a pair of shutouts and outscoring the overmatched opposition 124-12 since an opening 6-0 loss to Methuen.

Last weekend the sleeping giant awoke, as Alan Guibord '92 looked like Alan Guibord '91 with 121 yards rushing in 16 carries and one touchdown.

Guibord has been doing some mean blocking for Steve Shepard this year, but it was about time to thrust the 195-pounder back into the limelight. Shepard, who had 130 yards last week against Tewksbury (120 in second half), was certainly no slouch against Haverhill as he gained 65 yards in just 10 carries and scored his team-high eighth TD of the campaign.

The Golden Warriors appeared primed for another blowout win with an early touchdown against Haverhill, but the Hillies' defense buckled down and got tough in key situations the rest of the night. Haverhill was also able to eat up large chunks of clock time with several lengthy but unrewarded marches.

Strong performances from AHS swim team not enough

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls' swim team met the 'iron' last week, and despite strong individual performances by freshman Diana Liberty and senior divers Anne Milmo and Amanda Schaeke, dropped Merrimack Valley Conference dual meets to Chelmsford (110.76) and Nashua (106.80).

However, the Lady Warriors bounced back last Monday with a 102.79 dual meet romp over Billerica High.

"The kids are swimming tired," said first-year Head Coach Marilyn Fitzgerald, "but that's the only way to prepare them for the MVC Championships, Sectionals and State Meet."

"Many of them have never been exposed to this kind of competition before. I've been beating on them relentlessly in practice, making them swim between 4,000 and 5,000 yards each day, and it's going to pay off in the long run. We'll begin tapering off this week."

"I'm really pleased with the progress some of the younger swimmers have made, and the overall attitude and work ethic of the girls has been outstanding," added Coach Fitzgerald.

"I can't say enough about (diving coach) Mary Werners and the way the divers have improved over the season. We have three girls who have qualified for Sectionals already, and a fourth who is on the verge."

Senior Tri-Captain Molly Grassis, sidelined by illness for much of the season, returned for the Nashua meet. Sophomore standout Tracie Grant is still not 100 percent; however, but is expected back for the upcoming bigger meets.

The Lady Warriors, 3-5-0 entering the final week of MVC dual meet activity, host Methuen High this afternoon (3:30 p.m.) at the Greater Lawrence Regional School pool.

"I'm going to let the seniors pick their event in the final meet," noted Coach Fitzgerald.

The Conference Championships are scheduled Nov. 5-6 at Lowell and Haverhill,

Andover-Chelmsford

Undefeated Diana Liberty was a double winner once again in this meet at the Acton-Boxboro High pool, capturing the 200 individual medley (2:19.11) and 500 yard freestyle (5:25.22) races.

Junior Ronit Shteiyaer placed first in the 100 breaststroke (1:19.28), and the 400 free relay quartet of Karen Murphy, Whitney Bates, junior Mindy Fox and senior Tri-Captain Chrissy DerAnanian touched first in 4:21.13.

Anne Milmo, who has qualified for both the Sectional and State Meets, led a top three sweep of the one-meter diving with 172.35 points. She was followed by Sectional qualifiers Kerry Brady (157.95) and Tri-Captain Amanda Schaeke (146.85).

Miller and Liberty finished second (1:52.09).

Individual third places went to Miller in the 50 free (28.24) and 100 free (1:04.12), DerAnanian in the 100 yard butterfly (1:16.70).

The medley relay crew of junior Carrie Moran, Fox, Liberty and Miller was also third (2:12.24).

Capturing fourths were DerAnanian in the 200 freestyle (2:18.63), Mindy Fox in the 200 IM (2:37.51) and 100 fly (personal best 1:21.65), Mandy Wilson in the 50 free (29.19), junior Jenn Rando in the 500 free (7:02.43) and sophomore Katherine Matto in the 100 breast (1:26.93).

Completing the AHS scorers in fifth place were Katie Lennon in the 200 free (2:29.13), Mandy Wilson in the 100 free (1:05.95), sophomore Kristen Lawrence in the 500 free (personal best 7:10.11), senior Karen Murphy in the 100 backstroke (1:16.57) and freshman Heather Vanderheiden in the 100 breast (personal best 1:29.33).

Also contributing personal-best perfor-

Andover-Nashua

Diana Liberty, who wins distance races and sprints with equal ease, continued her dominance with victories in the 200 yard freestyle (2:03.26) and 100 yard freestyle (personal best 55.67).

She also swam a leg on the victorious 200 free relay team, joining Karen Murphy, Chrissy DerAnanian and Megan Miller in a 1:53.16 effort.

The one-meter diving was a 1-2-3 sweep once again by the Lady Warriors, Anne Milmo topping the 170 point mark for the second straight meet (170.35) while Amanda Schaeke was second (152.60) and junior Stacy Thresher third (148.00).

Thresher is just one meet away from qualifying for the Sectionals.

Individual runners up were DerAnanian in the 200 IM (2:37.71) and Ronit Shteiyaer in the 100 breaststroke (personal best 1:18.02).

Two relay teams also placed second, the 200 medley foursome of Karen Murphy, Shteiyaer, Molly Grassis and Katie Lennon (2:10.62) and the 400 free crew of DerAnanian, Miller, Liberty and Mandy Wilson (4:15.87).

Andover added third place in the 200 medley relay with Carrie Moran, Mindy Fox, junior Andrea Carpino and freshman Lindsay Bates (2:15.54).

Carrie Moran snagged a pair of individual thirds with personal-best times in the 100 butterfly (1:17.91) and 100 backstroke (1:13.02), while other No. 3 placers were Ronit Shteiyaer in the 200 IM (personal best 2:41.79), Megan Miller in the 50 free (personal best 27.75) and Mindy Fox in the 100 breast (1:20.92).

Fourth places went to Mandy Wilson in the 200 free (2:20.90), Fox in the 50 free (28.68), DerAnanian in the 100 free (1:03.39).

Andover High golf team places fourth in qualifying tournament

The Andover High golf team placed a respectable fourth in the State Team Qualifying Tournament Monday at the Beverly Golf and Tennis Club, while Golden Warriors linksmen Dave Shaffer and Greg LeBreck finished tied for 11th and 14th respectively in last Friday's annual Merrimack Valley Conference Individual Championship Tournament at Hickory Hill in Methuen.

Shaffer, a freshman, fired a 45-40-85 for MVC Large School runnerup Andover, which daded a miske, while junior Co-Captain LeBreck carded a 48-39-87.

The MVC Individuals format called for each of the 10 member schools to send two golfers into the 18-hole medal play competition.

Greg Federico of Large School champion Chelmsford was the winner, firing a sharp two over 39-34-73, while second and third place in the 20-player field went to the tandem of Jim Doherty (37-38-75) and Kevin Ricci (40-36-76) of undefeated Small School champion Methuen High.

Shaffer was tied for 11th with Tewksbury's Adam Lynn (44-41-85).

Only four players broke 80, the fourth being Mike Spencer of Haverhill (37-40-77).

Andover will not be playing in the State Team Championships next June 7 at a Central Mass. site to be determined later, the Warriors' fourth place finish not quite good enough.

Last fall Coach Bob Lawson's squad was the low qualifier, en route to a third place finish in the Division 1 state tourney, but this season it will be MVC Large School champ Chelmsford and Woburn advancing.

Chelmsford was low team at Beverly with 320 strokes, Woburn and Peabody had 334 apiece, and Andover was a close fourth at 336.

Shaffer All-Conference

Andover freshman No. 1 Dave Shaffer was selected one of seven players on the 1992 MVC All-Conference squad. He is the only freshman so designated and honored.

Andover also has three Large School Division All-Stars in freshman Jeff Mazza and Co-Captains Justin Hesenius and Greg LeBreck.

places were Heather Vanderheiden in the 100 fly (personal best 1:21.20), Karen Murphy in the 100 free (1:04.96), Amanda Pettoruto in the 500 free (personal best 6:35.66), Katie Lennon in the 100 back (1:16.17) and Katherine Matto in the 100 breast (1:25.35).

Whitney Bates contributed a personal best 2:24.66 in the 200 free for sixth place. Andover-Billerica

The Lady Warriors placed first in eight of the 12 events against Billerica.

Diana Liberty came away with a victory in her eighth different event this fall, winning the 100 backstroke (1:09.57).

Other individual first-place finishers for AHS included Mandy Wilson in the 200 freestyle (2:20.50), Megan Miller (28.70) who barely nipped teammate Katie Lennon (28.71) in the 50 free, Chrissy DerAnanian in the 100 free (1:03.06) and Karen Murphy in the 500 free (6:35.74).

The Lady Warriors were first in all three relays.

Diana Liberty, Ronit Shteyer, Molly Grassis and DerAnanian won the 200 medley relay (2:10.77). Liberty, Megan Miller, DerAnanian and Mandy Wilson captured the victory in 1:56.68, and the No. 1 quartet in the 400 free relay was Mindy Fox, Murphy, Miller and Wilson (4:24.46).

Divers Stacy Thresher and Kerry Brady qualified for the Sectionals by placing second (157.90) and third (149.60) respectively, and Lisa Cincotta was fourth (140.00).

AHS runners-up were Mindy Fox in the 200 free (2:21.52), Katherine Matto in the 200 IM (3:03.58), Katie Lennon in the 50 free, Molly Grassis in the 100 free (1:05.38), Jenn Rando in the 100 breaststroke (1:25.75) and Lindsey Bates in the 500 free (6:58.75).

The 200 free relay quartet of Whitney Bates, Mary Chesney, Nicole DeLisio and Grassis was second in 2:00.81.

Placing third were Diana Rita in the 200 IM (3:15.25), Chesney in the 100 free (1:06.19), Amanda Pettoruto in the 100 backstroke (1:21.62), Heather Vanderheiden in the 100 butterfly (1:21.80) and Whitney Bates in the 100 breast (1:26.94).

Relay crews in third were the 200 medley foursome of Katie Lennon, Katherine Matto, Chesney and Whitney Bates (2:18.57), and the 400 freestyle squad of Lennon, Pettoruto, Jenn Rando and Ronit Shteyer (4:36.19).

Individual fourths were garnered by Shteyer in the 200 free (2:24.88), Joy Sandison in the 200 IM (3:23.19), Nicole DeLisio in the 50 free (30.12), Cindy Carlson in the 100 fly (1:34.06), Lisa Crowley in the 500 free (7:49.69) and Emily Winters in the 100 back (1:25.81).

Rounding out the AHS scorers in fifth were Alisa Adams in the 100 fly (1:35.06) and Kristen Lawrence in the 100 breast (1:31.72).

quarterback Jeff Brammer to Michigan transfer Mike Roberts, and an impressive 28-yard burst by Guibord.

Guibord eventually plowed over from the three yard line for his second touchdown of the season.

Automatic Scott Henry added the first of two more perfect placements as the home team grabbed a 7-0 lead.

The Hillies then shifted into ball-control mode and put together a 16-play drive that consumed much of the second period.

However, the threat ended just prior to the half when senior cornerback Colin Arsenault intercepted a pass in the end zone with seconds remaining.

The insurance score came in the fourth period on a one yard run by Shepard, who once again completed a pivotal option pass to Colin Arsenault as he had the previous week against Tewksbury.

Henry's 15th PAT placement of the season followed.

Haverhill, with quarterback Eric Conte directing a rugged ground game featuring some tough runs by junior tailback Brian Tellier, mounted their second long drive of the game late in the fourth period.

Once again an interception short-circuited the Hillies' bid, however, and Andover was able to preserve the shutout by controlling the final three minutes of play.

The Golden Warriors finished with statistical advantages in first downs (16-10), yards rushing (251-158), yards passing (64-33) and total yardage from scrimmage (315-191).

Wilmington

The Wildcats, 22-6 losers to Methuen last week, have had their season sullied by a hazing controversy at pre-season camp in Freedom, N.H.

The incident has drawn major media attention for two months, leading to the suspension of 10 players for one game (last week).

Wilmington will be back at full strength for Andover, and the Cats do have some dangerous offensive performers in quarterback John O'Reilly, wide receiver Dan Ballou and running back Tom Aprile.

O'Reilly, a three-year veteran, has passed for more than 2,000 career yards and this season has six TD passes to his credit. Ballou has emerged as a major threat, boasting five TD receptions and 10 touchdowns (60 points) altogether.

Top ground gainer Aprile has been near or over 100 yards rushing on several occasions.

Andover JVs

Sophomore quarterback Justin Connors led the way, running for one touch down and tossing a 15-yard TD strike to Jeff Arsenault for a second score. Eric Thompson and Mike Dalton were defensive leaders.

DCS offers four-week basketball clinic for boys in grades 2 - 8

The Department of Community Services will be offering an Andover Basketball Clinic with Dave Fazio, varsity coach at Andover High School. This clinic will be held on Sundays, beginning Nov. 1 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the high school and will run for four weeks.

Boys in grades 2-8 are welcome to register. Space is limited and advance registration is required. For more information contact the DCS at 470-3800 Ext. 280 or stop by the offices on Bartlett Street to register.

doubleheader, which has the Large School title on the line in the nightcap between defending division champ Billerica and current first place team Chelmsford.

The Lady Warriors threw a scare into Chelmsford (13-3) during last week's match, taking the first game to overtime before bowing 16-14. The Lions then coasted 15-4 to complete the sweep.

Playing well for Andover were Holly Wright, Erinne Sullivan, Kerry Hagerty and Sarah Tully.

In completing a season series sweep of Haverhill, Andover romped 15-8, 15-6 behind the strong play of Joanna Moynihan, Melissa Minot, Rebecca Goldenberg, Hagerty and Wright.

The Hillies were not as cooperative early in the season, dropping a hard-fought 2-1 match back on Sept. 28.

In the 15-7, 15-2 romp over Tewksbury it was again the solid efforts of Moynihan, Minot, Goldenberg, Hagerty and Wright that made it look so easy.

Andover JVs

The Andover junior varsity volleyballers registered three more wins to improve to 14-3 overall, sweeping Chelmsford and Tewksbury 2-0 and nudging Haverhill 2-1.

Katie Jurdi, Ann Marie Hussey and Stephanie Casey were outstanding all around performers in the 15-3, 15-13 triumph over Chelmsford.

Keying the 15-4, 16-14 decision over Tewksbury were Kim Daher and Cindy Su, while Haverhill fell in three as Daher, Casey and Hussey led the way.

"Masconomet is for real," said an impressed AHS Coach Loschi. "We were outclassed. They were quicker and got to the ball first most of the night.

"The difference in size is amazing. Masconomet is a much taller team and it enabled them to control the air game.

"We stopped their top scorer, Becky Blaesser, thanks to a tight mark by Marcia Gemmell.

"But it was a very quick game and they were faster," added Loschi. "Our girls tried hard and we had some decent chances. I don't fault our effort at all.

"It's fun to play a team of Masconomet's quality. They've had an outstanding program for a long time. As a regional school they draw from a large area, and I believe two years ago they were the Division 2 state champs," concluded Loschi.

Kim Kelley went the distance in goal for Andover, making eight saves, while the Masco tandem of Alyssa Sadowski (first half, five saves) and Lauren Ferullo (second half, six saves) combined for 11 stops.

Andover, 3-0

The fatigue factor played a part in the low score against Dracut (3-8-1), a team the Lady Warriors routed 10-2 back on Sept. 19 in by far their finest offensive showing of the season.

"We played tired," said Coach Loschi, "which is understandable after the week we went through. Four games in six days including two against Billerica and Masconomet, two of the toughest teams in the state.

"But I was able to rest some players and give a few underclassmen valuable varsity playing experience."

Vanessa Blank launched the attack with her fifth goal, making it 1-0 at halftime, and second-half goals came from Morrison and Lindsey Sweeney.

Sweeney also chalked up an assist on Morrison's tally.

Beth Everett (first half) and Kim Kelley (second half) shared the team's second shutout of the week and fourth of the season, making two saves apiece.

Dracut keeper Carrie Ladehauche had 10 stops as Andover finished with a 13-4 shooting edge.

Defender Amy Baker and midfielder Kara O'Handley were also cited for strong play.

Andover, 2-1

The Lady Warriors fell behind Peabody 1-0 at halftime last Monday, then roared back on second-half goals less than four minutes apart by Hilary Recesso and Marcia Gemmell.

Recesso dumped in the rebound of a Gemmell shot, tucking the ball in the lower right corner to tie it up.

Gemmell's game-winner at 22:46 came on a direct kick, and the locals were able to hang on from there.

Goaltender Beth Everett made 10 saves and Coach Loschi also lauded the work of forward Michelle Morey, midfielders Kara O'Handley and Rachel Roberts, and defenders Alyssa Sonntag, Colleen Murnane and Cara Morrison.

"Another sluggish Monday," sighed Coach Loschi. "But we were in a tough situation after four games so close together. Our minds were willing but the bodies were weak. Our concentration was elsewhere."

The Lady Warriors were also shorthanded with Becky Levine home sick in bed, Tay Hollander resting in a hospital bed with a kidney infection, Amy Pierro out with back spasms and Sue Cookson becoming ill during the game."

Andover JVs

The AHS junior varsity, 12-1-1 overall, ripped Lowell 7-0 as six girls scored goals. Melissa Guerrero pocketed two while Jamie Barron, Chrissy Donovan, Rachel Buonopane, Christina Babine and Sarah Paskowsky added single tallies. Goalkeeper Meghan Lynch registered her 10th shutout.

Earlier in the week Andover also hammered Peabody 7-0 as Cathy Zappala netted three goals, Kelly Mitchell two and Buffy Sonntag two. Meghan Lynch chalked up the shutout with strong defensive support from Alison Georgian, Lauren Ofria and Carolyn Value.

Freshman gridders beat Haverhill, lose to Tewksbury

By Rick Harrison

Quarterback Pat Sharkey, playing his first game after recovering from a broken arm, tossed a 20-yard pass to Rick Mendez late in the third quarter as the Andover High freshman football team edged the Haverhill frosh 8-0 last week at Haverhill Stadium.

The victory boosted the Andover record to 3-1-0 overall, including a 14-0 loss to Tewksbury two weeks ago. That defeat was just the second in the last four years, and 28 games, for Coach Ken Pellerin's ninth grade teams.

The Young Warriors, who have outscored the opposition 44-20 in four games, return to the grid iron tomorrow afternoon when they host Wilmington at the Doherty Middle School field in Andover. 8-0

After a scoreless and basically uneventful first half, Andover notched its only TD against Haverhill (1-4-0) in the third period.

The sequence started with an AHS march to the Hillies' 15 yard line, where the offense stalled and Pat Sharkey's field goal attempt was blocked.

Haverhill took control and moved to its own 45 yard line before Andover linebacker Mark Edwards pounced on a fumble.

A short time later Sharkey tossed the 20-yard TD strike to former QB Mendez, who is more at home as a running back-receiver, and then Sharkey hit Ken Oppenheim with the two-point conversion pass.

Andover finished with 94 yards rushing in 23 carries, the top ground gainers Edwards (four carries, 33 yards), Mendez (seven carries, 29 yards) and Mike Shaughnessy (six carries, 21 yards).

Sharkey was 6-of-12 passing, while Mendez went 1-for-2 with a completion on a fake punt, as the pair combined for 83 aerial yards.

Mendez caught four passes covering 65 yards and Oppenheim two for 18 yards.

Leading the defense, which produced the second shutout of the season, were middle linebacker Mendez, outside linebacker Edwards and John Blais.

Mendez contributed seven tackles, Edwards seven tackles and two fumble recoveries, and Blais had a key pass interception.

Tewksbury, 14-0

The Andover High freshman gridders penetrated to the 20-yard line on four different occasions, but couldn't punch the ball across en route to the 14-0 Merrimack Valley Conference loss to Tewksbury at the Center School field in Tewksbury.

Tewksbury did all its offensive damage in the first half, scoring once in each of the first two quarters on 30- and 40-yard passing plays.

"We basically made a couple of defensive mistakes, including a missed tackle, that led to their touchdowns," said Coach Pellerin. "Take those away and it was a very even football game."

"We also had a little trouble passing (2-for-10). Our quarterback is playing out of position, but we have (Pat Sharkey) returning this week (for Haverhill) so we should be able to switch people around to their regular positions."

Andover reached the Tewksbury 20 yard line three times and the 10 once. Twice the drives simply stalled, with the young Warriors surrendering on downs, while the other two marches were aborted by a fumble and clipping penalty.

Andover rushed 27 times for 171 yards, Chris Richter gaining 66 yards on five carries and Rick Mendez adding 50 on seven rushes.

Defensive standouts, with a fumble recovery each, were linebackers Mendez, Mark Edwards and special teams' performer Derek DeAngelis.

NECC holds basketball camp

The men's basketball staff of Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill will conduct its high intensity training basketball camp Nov. 27, 28 and 29 at the college gym.

The camp is open to freshmen through senior high school players and is designed to get them ready for the first day of practice.

Stress conditioning, agility and shooting skills will be stressed.

The boys' session will be daily from 9 a.m. to noon; the girls will go from 1 to 4 p.m.

The cost is $50 for the three sessions. Any school that has five or more players in a session will receive a 20 percent discount on all fees.

Dahlstrand and Holmes are top finishers at meet for AHS cross country teams

By Rick Harrison

Erik Dahlstrand and Amanda Holmes were the top Andover High finishers in last weekend's annual Northern Area Cross Country Meet held at Bradley Palmer State Forest in Peabody.

The boys then vaulted over the .500 mark (5-4-0) with a close tri-meet sweep of Merrimack Valley Conference opponents Central Catholic and Lawrence High, nipping the Red Raiders 27-28 and Lawrence 26-33 in the meet that had originally been postponed by rain and rescheduled for this past Monday afternoon.

Coach Leo Lafond's teams hosted winless Wilmington in yesterday's 1992 MVC season finale.

Early next month the State Class Meet and All-State Meet will be held at Franklin Park in Boston.

Northern Area Meet
Senior Tri-Captain Amanda Holmes registered the best AHS finish of the day, placing 31st with a time of 20:46 over the 3.0 mile Peabody course.

Also scoring for the Lady Warriors, who had 217 points, were senior Tri-Captain Heather Holmader (32nd, 20:47), junior Amanda Grasso (45th, 21:16), senior Tri-Captain Ellen Sullivan (48th, 21:24) and Amanda Verrault (61st, 21:44).

Others competing for the AHS girls were junior Madhavi Reddy (76th, 22:19) and senior Diane Ellsworth (83rd, 22:45).

The Andover boys had 407 points, their top two runners also coming in one second apart as senior Quad-Captain Eric Dahlstrand was 58th in 17:02 and senior Todd Taylor 59th in 17:03.

Junior Max Dawson was 81st in 17:22, junior Kevin Sharkey 102nd in 17:47, junior Nick Zammuto 107th in 17:55 and senior Quad-Captain Brian Twomey 117th in 18:59.

Junior Max Dawson was the first Andover runner, second overall in the race, as the boys swept past Central Catholic and host Lawrence High.

Dawson covered the 3.0 mile course in 16:47, just two seconds behind individual race winner Gerson Manchene of Lawrence (16:45).

Brian Twomey of AHS was sixth in 17:04, and other scorers for the Warriors were Erik Dahlstrand (7th, 17:05), junior Kevin Sharkey (11th, 17:30) and freshman Charlie Russo (12th, 17:38).

Senior Quad-Captain Dave Gardner also ran well, finishing 14th in 17:41.

Catholic Memorial Meet

The Andover boys were ninth in Division 2 of the Catholic Memorial Meet with 238 points, while team champ Dennis Yarmouth finished with an incredible low of 36 points.

Brian Twomey produced the Warriors' top overall effort of the day, placing 20th after covering the 2.85 miles in 15:36.

Also scoring for Andover were Erik Dahlstrand (38th, 15:49), Todd Taylor

Girls' freshman soccer team improves record

The Andover High freshman girls' soccer team improved to 10-1-2 recently with five consecutive shutout romps over Algonquin Regional of Northboro, 10-0, North Andover, 3-0, Chelmsford, 8-0, Beverly, 4-0, and Westford Academy, 4-0.

Liz Salvia opened a big week with a three-goal hat trick against visiting Algonquin. Jen Prudden pumped in two goals and others were added by Amy Hayner, Missy Famiglietti, Gillian Corkery, Jen Aylward and Jen Schapira. Beth Lee and Prudden played one half apiece in the young Warriors' net, while Sue Ashlock and Shannon Lee were standouts.

Missy Famiglietti punched home two goals and Randi Spiegel one against North Andover, while other frosh standouts were Jen Aylward, Liz Salvia, Jen Schapira and Chris Contos.

Liz Salvia, Elaine Licata and Missy Famiglietti pocketed two goals apiece against Chelmsford, while Randi Spiegel and Erin Collins added single tallies. Sue Ashlock and Chris Contos played strong defensive games.

The 4-0 whitewash of Beverly avenged an earlier 1-1 tie, as Missy Famiglietti scored twice and single goals were contributed by Liz Salvia and Shannon Lee. Jen Schapira, Chris Contos and Jen Aylward were defensive standouts.

Liz Salvia booted home two goals against Westford, Randi Spiegel and Missy Famiglietti added single scores, and Amy Hayner also played well.

The Andover freshman girls have nine shutouts, including six straight and seven in the last eight games.

Andover-Tewksbury boys

Eric Takach continued to dominate for Tewksbury, winning his fourth race this fall after covering the 2.7 mile Redman course in 14:34.

Andover's Brian Twomey, the individual race winner two weeks ago in a tri-meet against Methuen and Billerica, was the only local to crack the top five as he finished third in 15:07.

The Golden Warriors owned the bottom half of the top 10, with Erik Dahlstrand sixth (15:27), Todd Taylor seventh (15:45), junior Kevin Sharkey eighth (15:55), Nick Zammuto ninth (16:00) and junior Max Dawson 10th (16:01).

Andover-Tewksbury girls

The Lady Warriors couldn't match Tewksbury's depth and talent, as the Redgals' consistent twins Heather and Kim Farrand sparked the convincing victory by finishing 1-2 just four seconds apart in 17:11 and 17:15.

The Farrand sisters, fourth (Heather) and ninth at the Catholic Memorial Invitational, were more than a full minute ahead of third place runner and teammate Kendra Hansford who crossed in 18:23.

First across the line for Andover was Heather Holmader, seventh overall in 19:05.

Bunched together and rounding out the top 10 were AHS' Amanda Holmes in eighth (19:18), Ellen Sullivan ninth (19:27) and Amanda Grasso 10th (19:35).

YOUTH SOCCER

Nikes 2 - Avias 1

Charlene MacNeil took the ball down field off the opening kickoff to score for the Nikes. Lesley Ring scored the Nikes' second goal with a high boot off Kathy Philbin. Avias scored in the third quarter when Kristen Foley centered the ball to Julie McClearn who passed to Meghan Doyle who chipped it over the goalie.

BOW: Catherine Kannam, Caity Murray and Rachel DeMella (Avias); Katie Childs, Kathy Anderson and Rachel DiGiovanni (Nikes).

Reeboks 0 - Mitres 2

A defensive battle kept the game scoreless until the second quarter when Jackie Sawyer, assisted by Liz Tung, put the Mitres on the scoreboard. The Mitres scored again in the third quarter with a shot by Lindsay Ravens off Jessica Green. Despite great offensive play by Julie Hayner and Katie Gurry, Reeboks were unable to get the ball in the net.

BOW: Sarah Marden, Katie Gurry and Jessica Ting (Reeboks); Katie Henry, Carolyn Brown and Jessica Hyman (Mitres).

Andover Lightning 3 - Topsfield 0

Andover Lightning's goals were scored by Paul Bellacqua, with an assist by Patrick Murnane and Hunter Washburn, and Casey Russo and Benjamin Wessler, with an assist by Nick Kline. Doug Hsu saved a sure goal with excellent goal protection in the second half. The ball was quickly returned by Topsfield but Bobby Rawlinson made the stop.

BOW: Gregg Rybicki, Joel Rybicki and Chuck Murnane.

Andover Lightning 1 - North Andover 2

Andover lost in the last seconds. North Andover's winning goal came at the end of play with a shot over the head of the goalie. Joel Rybicki scored Andover's goal.

BOW: Josh Coates, David Kodiasky and Danny O'Connell.

Under 10 Division Bears 6 - Falcons 0

The Bears' goals were scored by Richard Crowley, Mike Shannon, David McGrath, James Ayoub (two) and Dan Cote. The Falcons' Danny Mayer made some great saves in goal.

Jaguars 4 - Lions 0

Jaguars' goals were scored by Rachel Koffman, Amy Hurlihy (two during some tough defense by the Lions) and Kim MacElhaney.

Jennifer Ataide and Valerie Froburg (Jaguars).

Cheetahs 5 - Bobcats 1

Kerry Nugent and Rachel Hartman scored two goals each for the Cheetahs, once with an assist by Taylor Traub, and Shannon Sweeney dribbled the ball from midfield to score with a long shot. Libby Driscoll scored the Bobcats' goal.

Tigers 0 - Leopards 1

Lisa Tylus scored the only goal during this tough match-up while Jennifer Fleming was superb as goalie. The Tigers put up an outstanding defense.

Panthers 4 - Cougars 0

The Panthers scored once each quarter with goals by Julie Marvin, Kristen DeLuca, Carolyn Nosbusch and Elizabeth Earnley. Assists were made by Carly Davenport and Liz Sullivan.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage (the "Mortgage") given by David C. Paine to Wakefield Co-operative Bank dated June 26, 1987, recorded with the Essex North Registry of Deeds in Book 2536, Page 316, of which Mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of the Mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, there will be sold at Public Auction at 9:00 o'clock a.m. on the 4th day of December, 1992 at the mortgaged premises, all and singular the premises described in the Mortgage.

To wit:

Unit B3-4 in ANDOVER'S COLONIAL DRIVE CONDOMINIUM (the "Condominium") located on Colonial Drive, Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, a condominium established by David S. Allen and/or William R. Keezer, Trustees of Colonial Drive Development Trust, U/D of Trust dated July 9, 1986 and recorded in Essex North District Registry of Deeds in Book 2320, Page 85, as amended, pursuant to Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 183A, by a Master Deed dated June 16, 1987 and recorded in said Deeds on June 17, 1987 in Book 2522, Page 105, and managed and regulated by the Trustees of Andover's Colonial Drive Condominium Trust under a Declaration of Trust dated June 16, 1987 and recorded in said Deeds in Book 2522, Page 137 (hereinafter sometimes referred to as either the "Condominium Trust" or the "Declaration of Trust"). The Unit is shown on the floor plans recorded simultaneously with the Master Deed, and also on the copy of the portion of said plans attached to the Unit Deed recorded herewith, to which is affixed the verified statement of a registered architect in the form required by Section 9 of said Chapter 183A.

Said Unit is conveyed together with an undivided percentage interest in the common areas and facilities of Andover's Colonial Drive Condominium, as set forth in the Unit Deed recorded herewith, which percentage interest may be amended from time to time by amendments of record.

The Unit is further conveyed subject to and with the benefit of easements, rights, restrictions and agreements, all more particularly set forth in the Unit Deed recorded herewith and the Master Deed referred to herein.

Said Unit is to be used for residential purposes only.

For title see deed of Colonial Drive Development Trust recorded herewith.

The mortgaged premises will be sold (i) subject to and with the benefit of all restrictions, easements, improvements, outstanding tax titles, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, and existing encumbrances of record created prior to the Mortgage or to which the Mortgage has of record been subordinated, and (ii) subject to persons in possession, and the rights of any tenants or occupants, of the mortgaged premises or any part thereof.

For authorization to foreclose, see judgment of the Land Court in Case No. 182747.

Terms of Sale

A deposit of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) will be required to be paid in cash or by certified or bank check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall be required to be paid in cash or by certified or bank check within thirty (30) days at the offices of Craig and Macauley Professional Corporation, Federal Reserve Plaza, 600 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts 02210.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

The undersigned holder of the Mortgage reserves the right to reject any and all bids for the mortgaged premises, and to continue the foreclosure sale from time to time to such subsequent date or dates as such holder may deem necessary or appropriate.

Columbia Auto Seat Covers, Inc.

Columbia Auto Seat Covers Co., Inc. has the experience and expertise to handle the complete interior restoration and repair of cars, trucks, boats and planes. They handle all types of cars, both foreign and domestic, and they specialize in the interior restoration of antique cars. Their services include reupholstering seats, burn hole repair, replacement of carpets, headliners, seat covers, door panels, convertible tops and boat tops. Columbia Auto Seat Covers will match, or use original materials, and they will scout out NOS (new old stock) to customize the interior of your classic or antique car. The materials used include fabric, leather and vinyls. They also carry Tonneau covers.

Columbia Auto Seat Covers Co., Inc. is a family owned business that has been serving the Greater Lawrence community from the same location since 1937. Joe Messina, Sal Messina and Cookie Reilly are the third generation dedicated to giving the best service for the lowest possible price. They take family pride in their work. One generation instructs the following generation at Columbia Auto Seat Covers, and the skills are passed along.
Employee John Sicard has been with the company for sixteen years. Ned Messina, a second generation member of the family, began the antique interior restoration side of the business. The 1948 MG pictured above is an example of the work Columbia Auto Seat Covers Co., Inc. does to help preserve the customers' investment in antique cars.

Columbia Auto Seat Covers Co., Inc. guarantees their work 100%. They offer free estimates and one-day service when possible.

Columbia Auto Seat Covers Co., Inc. is located at 165 South Broadway, Lawrence. Hours are Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sat. 8 a.m. - noon. Telephone: (508) 683-2205. Susan Pokress

Recycle

DO YOU HAVE an item or items that you no longer need, but that would be useful to someone else, something you'd be willing to give away if someone would come get it? For instance: boxes, storm windows, a child's bicycle, cardboard boxes, an old set of dishes. You can list your recyclable items in the Townsman's newest classified section: "RECYCLE". (FREE of charge!)

It's a way to clean up your place while acknowledging the world is running out of landfill space. Simply write us listing your recyclables and we'll print them in the paper. No phone calls please.

Outwin quits school bargaining team

By Lisa Boudreau

School Committee member Chris Outwin has withdrawn from the committee's negotiating team that is working to settle a contract with the teachers' union. Committee member Susan Dalton has taken his place on the negotiating team.

The teachers' contract ended Aug. 31, but the two sides began talking last spring. Both sides agreed last Friday to hire a private mediator and to split the fee for that person.

Dr. Outwin, who several weeks ago exchanged verbal barbs in a public meeting with teachers' union president Tom Meyers, said several factors contributed to his decision to leave the negotiating team.

"When you've got some negative chemistry it is a concern. It's like a sports team in some ways. If you've got a team in place that isn't getting you there, then you try other players and different approaches," he said.

Dr. Outwin said increased job responsibilities at Emerson College, where he is a professor, was also a factor in his resignation from the negotiation team. He is also a member of the School Committee's volunteer board seeking management solutions to the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts. (See Townsmen story on page 3.)

Dr. Outwin said Ms. Dalton will be a valuable addition to the team for the School Committee.

"Ms. Dalton's reputation for frankness can only help the process, as will her recent law degree," he said.

Teachers may picket; hint strike

Committee members joined the board, the town received $492,000 in additional state aid, which teachers say the committee promised would be theirs, and the teachers' contract expired Aug. 31.

Recently, the teachers began to "work to rule," or follow the letter of their contract, to protest their lack of a contract. That means they work only during contract hours and no longer participate in before- and after-school activities they normally perform.

Mary Lyman, a member of the School Committee and its negotiating team, said Tuesday that the School Committee was disappointed that the teachers plan to picket and are talking about striking.

"We've gone through hoops trying to set up a meeting to meet their time schedule," she said.

A meeting between the two sides and the mediator, whose fee will be shared by both sides, was scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 3, to meet teachers' request that a meeting be held before their Nov. 5 general membership meeting, Ms. Lyman said.

"I got a call Monday (Oct. 26) night from the teachers saying Nov. 3 was too late. We now have a meeting scheduled for tomorrow night (Wednesday, Oct. 28) and it's taken me at least 18 hours on the phone to arrange the meeting with everyone involved. Our lawyer won't be available until Nov. 3, so we've had to arrange someone else to represent us. We've bent over backwards to suit the teachers' schedule," she said.

If mediation doesn't yield a settlement by Thursday, Nov. 5, Mr. Meyers said the 320 members of the teachers' union will meet that day and "vote on a final position."

The teachers' union placed an ad in this week's Townsmen (see page 47) in which they say, "A lack of integrity on the part of the School Committee threatens to bring the (school) system to a halt," and, "On Thursday, Nov. 5, the teachers of Andover will consider whether or not to continue working without a contract. Taking such drastic action is the last thing we teachers want to do, but the School Committee has given us no choice."

When asked if the teachers would strike, Mr. Meyers would not say. "I just don't want to comment at this time," he said.

Ms. Lyman called the ad "upsetting," and said that the teachers' plans to picket and their threats to strike as suggested in the ad don't show good-faith bargaining on the teachers' part.

"Strikes are illegal and are designed to put pressure on the citizens of Andover who are targeted in that ad. Under normal negotiation procedures such actions would be suspended because they are divisive and energies should be devoted toward resolution," she said.

Mr. Meyers said the picketing is planned to demonstrate the "degree of frustration over the School Committee's lack of seriousness in settling a contract, which should be an easy contract to settle."

Regan Ford offers a variety of services

Regan Ford, located on Route 97 in Haverhill, is always ready to serve the public.

Regan Ford offers its customers a variety of services, including new car and truck sales, used car and truck sales, leasing, rentals, a body shop for all makes and models, service and parts.

The favorite vehicle at Regan Ford is the Ford Escort. This dealership has seen the improvements in quality workmanship that have changed this vehicle during the past decade.

The quality engineering and design of the Ford Escort represents the future of carmaking. The vehicle has front-wheel drive and a large, four-cylinder engine, which has the power to handle the driving needs of every type of driver. The acceleration is superior to most with its most recent improvements.

The Ford Escort even sounds like a solid machine. As passengers and driver shut their doors, it sounds like a vehicle made with commitment. New for 1993 is Ford Motor Company's commitment to its customers. Consumers asked for a longer warranty period, and now they have it. All Ford Motor products have a three-year or 36,000-mile, bumper-to-bumper warranty. This is a statement from the company; the Ford Motor Company wants its customers to be comfortable driving a Ford.

So why choose Regan Ford?

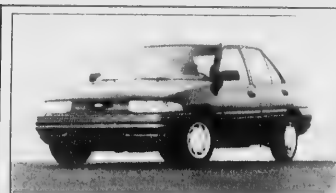

- Each employee offers the customer commitment.

- The dealership has been in business for more than 45 years.

- Regan Ford is committed to the community as well as to its customers. The dealership believes that it should help meet the needs of its community. For example, the dealership provides financial assistance to many area school systems.

- The sales staff educates itself about different programs, so that it may assist the car buyer in making the right choices.

- The dedicated management staff at Regan Ford provides quality service.

1993 Ford Escort LX Wagon

In 1993, Ford is offering an innovative "One-Price" marketing plan for all Escort LX models. It applies to the four body styles shown here. The Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price includes many popular options; it is $10,899 for manual transmission, $11,631 for automatic transaxle (title & tax not included).

'93 Ford car highlights reported

Value, technical advancements and distinctive design characterize Ford Division cars for the 1993 model year.

"Today's consumer is looking for a car that makes a strong statement in design and level of technical sophistication, all for a reasonable price," said Ross H. Roberts, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager. "Our new models fill that wish list right across the board — from the Festiva all the way to Crown Victoria."

The all-new Ford Probe leads the 1993 product array with a bold new "cab-forward design" and two new multi-valve engines to deliver solid performance.

The 1993 Ford Taurus SHO (Super High Output) offers an automatic transaxle for the first time.

For 1993, Ford Escort has a number of design refinements, plus an innovative "One-Price" plan for all four Escort LX body styles, which include many popular options.

Welcome to the '90s...

If the '90s are a time of getting more for your money, the new Audi 90 is ideally suited for the times.

Slip behind the wheel of the sporty new Audi 90 and you'll leave the excesses of the '80s, and just about everything else, behind.

Its comfortable interior is an invitation to drive. While the drive is made safer with a driver-side airbag (supplemental restraint system), self-tensioning front seat belts, and anti-lock brakes.

Push the accelerator and you'll be greeted by the same responsive V-6 engine that powers the highly acclaimed Audi 100. Head into the nearest turn and you'll experience what it means to take control.

The Audi Advantage lets you take control of expenses, too, by covering all scheduled maintenance costs for 3 years or 50,000 miles, and includes 24-hour roadside assistance.

Commonwealth Motors strives to be 'Number One'

The 1993 models of Chevrolet, Honda and Isuzu are arriving now at Commonwealth Motors in Lawrence and they are ready to give you a great deal on a new car.

Commonwealth Motors is determined to become New England's largest Honda and Chevy dealer, and to accomplish that goal they realize that they must provide more than just the best price around. They must become "No. 1" for service and customer satisfaction. Last quarter Commonwealth was rated the No. 1 Honda dealer in New England for customer satisfaction, so they are well on their way to their goal.

The commitment to customer satisfaction is reflected in many services offered, including express service, and free collision estimates in the full-service body shop. The service department stocks more than half a million dollar's worth of parts, so that they are readily available when needed. And of course, customer satisfaction is always guaranteed.

Commonwealth Motors offers many different credit and payment plans, including special first-time buyer and college-graduate buyer programs. They also have a large selection of used cars available. Customer satisfaction is the No. 1 priority at Commonwealth Motors, so come in and let them take care of your automobile needs.

Woodworth Chevrolet-Cadillac-Buick combines sophisticated body work with sales and service

Did you realize that Woodworth is one of New England's largest body shops? We can offer advantages that smaller shops can't. Our factory-trained body technicians have been trained in the latest technology and have access to the most sophisticated equipment available today.

We are now adding to our equipment the newest and finest spray booth available. This piece of equipment will help produce the finest quality paint refinishes outside of the factory. We have 20,000 square feet of service area, which enables us to accommodate several dozen vehicles at one time.

We handle any warranty problem that you may have with your Chevrolet car or truck, Cadillac, Buick, or Pontiac. We have a licensed appraiser that can handle your insurance claim hassle-free. We also provide free body estimates.

We will make arrangements for transportation within a 20-mile radius and will provide rental service if needed. We also have our own flatbed truck to provide any towing that might be needed. We provide a two-year warranty on any paint work and a 12,000 mile- or 12-month warranty on parts.

We are conveniently located at 39 Haverhill St., Andover. Stop in and say "Hi!" when you're in the area.

The more people know about De Ville, the more they recognize it as a powerful investment.

That's because De Ville's full complement of performance and safety technologies, including anti-lock braking and available Traction Control are matched by the tangible advantages of the largest interior of any front-drive sedan sold in America.

America's best-selling luxury automobile does not come from Europe or Japan. It's the Cadillac De Ville.

The reason is simple: De Ville embodies the aesthetics of everything Cadillac. Performance technology abounds while the amenities germane to full-size luxury are in evidence everywhere.

De Ville's expansive interior addresses the issue of comfort from two perspectives: mind and body.

The six-way, power-adjustable front seats and a large, easy-to-read instrument panel can help you stay refreshed, while generous amounts of sound baffling afford you and your passengers peace and quiet.

De Ville further distinguishes itself with a full-size six-passenger coupe, with a full cabriolet roof available.

See it today at Woodworth Chevrolet-Cadillac-Buick Inc.!

Smith Motors has complete line of '93 Mercedes-Benz

There is only one car manufacturer that can offer 107 years of engineering and design leadership. This same manufacturer has a reputation for leading the industry in style, quality and enduring value. Now, Mercedes-Benz offers a line that represents the pinnacle of automotive design: The S-Class.

There are five S-Class sedans, including standard-wheelbase and long-wheelbase sedans, which are spacious, solid and comfortable.

The Mercedes-Benz 300SD and 300SE S-Class sedans feature Mercedes' unmistakable styling, beautifully appointed interiors and a choice of two six-cylinder powerplants, including a very advanced turbodiesel, and a high-output gasoline engine with dual overhead cams and 24 valves.

The 400SEL and 500SEL offer the driver immediate response with their 32-cylinder, V-8 engines. The 600SEL raises the performance threshold with a 6.0-liter, V-12 389-horsepower engine.

For precise response and driver control, all S-Class sedans come with automatic transmissions (four-speed in all models, except the 300SE, which is five-speed), speed-sensitive power-assisted steering, four-wheel disc brakes and Antilock Braking Systems (ABS). Automatic Slip Control (ASR), standard on the 500SEL and 600SEL, optional on the 400SEL, give the SELs exceptional stability

The complete line of 1993 Mercedes-Benz automobiles is available at Smith Motors, 455-461 River St., Haverhill — the largest exclusive Mercedes-Benz dealer north of Boston for more than 65 years.

All Mercedes-Benz interiors are designed to make driving as pleasant and comfortable as possible. All controls in the S-Class sedans are simple, easy to use and logically located. Engineers at Mercedes-Benz feel that the less there is to distract a driver, the better. Therefore, the driver of an S-Class vehicle faces only the essential instruments and controls. Large analog gauges are visible through the steering wheel with the speedometer near center stage. All dashboard instruments and controls are backlit at night. Directionals, wipers and cruise control are all operated by stalks on the steering column. Frequently used controls, such as climate, radio, windows and gear shifter, are well within the natural arc of the average person's right arm.

The SEL interior takes Mercedes' basic comfort features one step further — for example, the two large windshield wipers clear 90 percent of the windshield for unsurpassed visibility in rain or snow; however, when the driver slows down, the wipers adjust automatically to the next-slower speed. The radio volume is speed-dependent as well.

The driver's seat adjusts for seat-back angle, headrest height, overall height, and tilt and cushion fore-and-aft position. Three sets of seat-, steer-

Bruce's Tire has more than 2,000 tires of all sizes in stock

Bruce's Tire, located on Route 28 in North Reading across from Kitty's Restaurant, has more than 2,000 tires of all sizes in stock.

Bruce's Tire uses the latest Bear front-end alignment equipment, so you can be sure your car will operate at its maximum performance.

Not only does Bruce's Tire sell tires, but is also available for any disc or drum brake service.

Bruce's Tire has been in business for longer than 23 years.

The dealership believes that you can benefit from its extensive experience.

It's worth driving the short trip down Route 28. If you have ques-

Bruce's Tire is located at 126 Main St., North Reading. Call 664-1720.

A flat tire can be one of driving's most dreaded situations

A flat tire is a minor inconvenience for some. For others, particularly women traveling alone, a flat tire is one of the most dreaded situations to be faced while driving.

"Many women have never learned how to change a wheel and tire," says Pat Lazzaro, a woman race car driver and certified auto mechanic who travels the country for Bridgestone, teaching consumers about car and tire care. "So they not only feel frustrated by having a flat, they feel vulnerable while waiting for assistance or attempting the repair. It doesn't have to be that way."

"Take care of your tires and they'll take care of you," Ms. Lazzaro says. "By having tires properly inflated and rotated and your car's front end aligned, you reduce the risk of a flat tire. Tires manufactured today are generally more resistant to punctures, but even with the best of care, a puncture may occur. You need to know what to do if that happens."

She recommends not driving on a flat tire unless stopping for a roadside change presents a greater danger.

"That's a personal decision," she says. "If a service station or a safe place is within a mile or two, you can drive very slowly to reach help. But that has its problems - the danger of driving slowly in traffic or on the shoulder of the road, the potential for damaging the rim and the nearly automatic invalidating of the tire warranty."

Ms. Lazzaro recommends learning how to change a wheel and tire so can handle the repair safely and quickly.

Most of us have been in fire drills; more of us need to be in tire drills," she says. "That means practicing a wheel-and-tire change every now and then so you can do it easily in a real situation."

Other tips Ms. Lazzaro offers are:

- Don't leave people or pets in the car while changing the wheel and tire. They can move, causing the car to fall off the jack.

- Never leave the engine running while changing a flat tire.

- Always put the parking brake on.

- Always put on your emergency flashers.

- And raise the hood.

- Have a towel or blanket in the car.

- After a wheel and tire change, go to a service station promptly for follow-up service.

► If American motorists kept tires up to recommended pressures, as much as 100,000 barrels of oil a day could be saved.

Checking label lets consumers bargain

According to AAA, the longer a car is on the dealer's lot, the more willing the dealer is to sell it.

Check the manufacturer's label on the driver's side door post. It will tell you when and where the car was made.

If you know that it's the car you want and the date is 60 or more days old or longer, you are in a better position to ask for a lower price.

One of the largest Honda/Volkswagen dealers in New England

Atamian Honda/Volkswagen celebrating 30th year in business

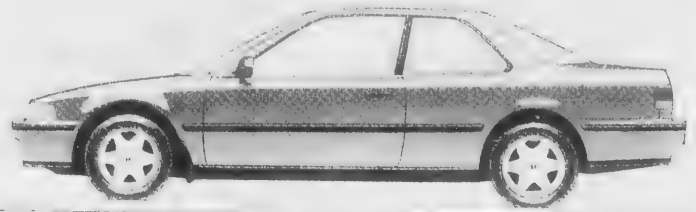

Atamian Honda/Volkswagen, one of the largest Honda/Volkswagen dealers in New England, serving the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire, is celebrating its 30th year in business at the same location.

Atamian offers a full-line service facility, with extended hours Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday, 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Their parts department has an inventory of more than $500,000 at all times. The parts department is also open extended hours for the convenience of their customers. Service and parts customers are the backbone of any dealership, but at Atamian they make it a priority to do the job right the first time, with special discounts on maintenance and regular service. They take a lot of pride in customer satisfaction.

Auto Engineering announces a 'grand re-opening' of its showroom, service facilities

Auto Engineering, authorized dealer of Mercedes-Benz and BMW automobiles, and one of the oldest and most respected dealerships in Massachusetts, announces the relocation of its showroom, parts and service facilities to the site of its 1951 founding, at 436 Marrett Road (Route 2A), Lexington.

According to Stephen E. McLane, general partner, "in these recessionary times, keeping the Mercedes-Benz and BMW tradition of excellence alive has been a major test of our management abilities. Our move to Lexington — back to where it all began — is evidence of the ongoing commitment we have to the thousands of owners who have been loyal customers of Auto Engineering for longer than four decades."

"Actually, our grand re-opening is more of a homecoming to Lexington," added William T. Currie, partner and service manager. "The original facility, conveniently located on Route 2A, only minutes from Routes 2 and 128 (I-95), has been thoroughly modernized, and completely equipped to meet the service and repair demands of our customers, as well as today's high-technology cars."

Kenneth J. Fullerton, partner, said that "although Auto Engineering is a 'small' business, we make a significant impact on the local economy. For example, almost $20 million worth of new automobiles are purchased annually from the manufacturers; more than $3 million in taxes are paid every year to the town, state and federal governments. And our more than $2 million payroll is substantial."

"Finally, we feel it is our responsibility to our employees — and their families — that as the fifth-oldest Mercedes-Benz dealer in the United States, we continue to uphold these standards of quality. After 41 years, we're really only getting started!" Mr. Fullerton said.

Avoid big delays in winter travel

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Jerold A. Gnazzo reminds motorists that inspection of safety and emissions items are necessary to insure safe and responsible driving. The following items are suggested for inspection and can help avoid any delays in winter travel: battery, brakes, exhaust system, cooling and heating system, belts and hoses, tires, lights (front and rear), windshield wipers and washer; these are among the most important.

The registrar also recommends a winter-driving emergency kit to keep in the car.

The kit should contain tire chains, small snow shovel, extra clothing, traction mats, ice scraper, booster cables, warning devices (flares or triangles), small bag of abrasive material (sand, salt or kitty litter), snow brush, flashlight, cloth or paper towels and a blanket.

"We can never be sure of New England's winter weather, but if the necessary precautions are taken, then driving can be less strenuous and done with more confidence," said Mr. Gnazzo.

Break down? Stay with your car

Drivers who experience highway breakdowns should remain with their vehicles until help arrives, regardless of the time of day. That's the opinion of the nation's state police and safety departments, who were recently surveyed by the Shell Motorist Club (SMC).

A majority of state police departments now believe it is no longer safe for male or female drivers to leave their disabled vehicles to seek help. Officers cite the danger of being struck by passing vehicles and the potential for becoming a crime victim as reasons for the defensive safety tactic.

From officials' recommendations, SMC has compiled the following steps for drivers who experience highway breakdowns:

- Move the vehicle well off the roadway to safety.

- Activate emergency flashers.
- Get out of vehicle on the passenger side before raising the hood to indicate distress.
- Tie a white cloth to door handle or antenna.
- Place a "Send Help" sign in the back window.
- Stay with the vehicle and, when inside, keep seat belt fastened, doors locked, windows partially opened and wait for help.

SMC also urges lone female drivers to take extra precautions to protect themselves against possible assault when seeking emergency roadside assistance.

Remember, being a member of an automobile club gives drivers low-cost protection in the event of a breakdown.

Weekly maintenance saves money

The National Automobile Dealers Association recommends a routine weekly maintenance program and urges consumers to follow these money-saving procedures:

- Make sure that fluids, such as engine oil, coolant, power-steering and brake fluids are at specified levels.

- Inspect drive belts to make sure they are not frayed, worn or at improper tension levels.

- Check tire pressures once a week, to prevent excessive tire wear.

Change of seasons a good time to give your car a quick check-up

A change in seasons is a good time to give your car a quick check-up for safe, trouble-free driving.

Lights OK? Wipe grime off windshield wipers, replace if worn. Brakes OK? Check tires for wear and recommended pressure; too many drivers run on tires that are too soft, hurting handling, gas mileage and tire life. Most tires are "all-weather," but consider snow tires if you need them.

If you face really cold weather, make sure your car is ready. If starting's balky, your battery may need charging or replacing.

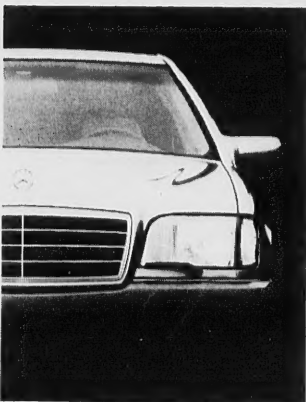

A good synthetic engine oil flows easily at minus-35 degrees Fahrenheit for easier starting and faster lubrication. Sluggish running may suggest a tuneup.

Check drive belts hoses and fluids:

OK on window washer? Radiator coolant full? Remember, it isn't just an antifreeze, but helps prevent rust and corrosion; renew every two years at least.

You may want a scraper and snow brush in your car, and a "trouble" assortment in your trunk: battery jumper cables, tire chains, traction mats or sand, reflector triangles or flares, small containers of gasoline antifreeze and window de-icer.

Safety a big issue in '93 Mercedes-Benz

Safety is a big issue with Mercedes-Benz. Each S-Class model comes equipped with a Supplemental Restraint System (SRS) with dual air bags, as well as built-in seat squabs and padded knee bolsters. The seat squabs and knee bolsters help prevent occupants from "submarining," or being forced under the seat belts and air bags. Emergency tensioning retractors remove slack from both front seat belts. The crumple zone concept was pioneered by Mercedes-Benz as a result of its safety research program. The front and rear crumple zones of the S-Class body deform progressively, absorbing much of the impact energy and helping to protect the passenger cabin. Underhood items mounted within the crumple zone are staggered to help avoid their stacking up and intruding into the cabin.

In the event of a severe frontal collision, the S-Class lower steering column is designed to deform while a jointed link folds under impact, reducing the likelihood of the steering wheel intruding into the vehicle, thus reducing the chance of driver injury. Also, the brake-pedal assembly pivots away from the driver's feet.

Safety, style, and quality are all standard features of the Mercedes-Benz S-Class.

Test drive a Mercedes today at Smith Motors, 455-461 River St., Haverhill. You can call them at 372-2552.

Jiffy Lube offers quick oil changes and other services

Jiffy Lube of Greater Lowell has been serving the Merrimack Valley for six years with the same management team and under the same ownership.

The franchise, NTI-Lubrications Inc., is an Andover-based company. Their facility, on Middlesex Street in Lowell, was the first quick-lube in the Merrimack Valley.

Its newest facility, on Route 38 in Lowell, has been in operation for three years. The location is only seven miles from Andover Center and is only 1/2 mile from Route 495.

In addition to oil-change services, the Lowell-area Jiffy Lube also performs radiator-system antifreeze services, transmission-fluid and filter services, and air-conditioning evacuation and recharge services.

A newly installed "point-of-sale" computer system at each store is now able to keep track of each customer's maintenance history at Jiffy Lube; advise what the manufacturer's recommendations are on fluid services and any service bulletins that might apply to specific cars; and select the proper fluid and filter applications. Each invoice prints a complete service history.

Jiffy Lube is the oldest and largest quick-lube franchise operation in America and is owned by Pennzoil Co.

These facilities use Pennzoil fluids and FRAM filter products. All technicians are certified by Jiffy Lube through an examination program and all facility managers are school-trained.

Winning the global race for alternative fuels to oil

By Emerson Fittipaldi

As each day goes by, we have less oil available to take from the earth. According to experts, we will run out of this natural resource sometime during the 22nd century. Despite this fact, almost every nation is dependent upon automobiles and trucks. This is particularly true of Western nations such as my native Brazil and the United States.

In Brazil, we have begun to do something about our dependence on oil. In the early 1970s, during one of the oil crises, the Brazilian government started a program to replace most oil use with an alternative fuel - alcohol made from sugar cane, a plentiful crop in my country. The alternative fuel program was controversial at first, but is becoming more accepted by the Brazilian people. The biggest problem at this point is that alcohol fuel is more expensive than gasoline - a factor that should change as more people use the alternative.

Although there are no far-reaching plans for phasing out oil-based fuels in the United States, research and development is being carried out in the hope of developing a good, inexpensive and readily available alternative fuel that will be based on renewable resources. For example, there already has been considerable work done on ethanol and methanol, which are alcohol-based and made substantially from grain. A renewable resource that is plentiful in the United States, grain reduces the amount of gasoline needed per gallon.

Another possible alternative fuel is liquid natural gas, such as propane and butane. Like oil, natural gas comes from the earth. But experts say the reserves of natural gas are far greater than the earth's oil reserves.

One problem with these alternative fuels, however, is their performance, which simply has not measured up to that of gasoline. While they are less expensive, they need bigger on-board tanks, which could rupture and explode in an accident.

There also has been considerable experimentation with electric engines, but, so far, nobody has produced a small battery that can hold enough electricity to make such power practical on a wide scale. There are working electric cars that can run for eight hours at up to 50 mph, but they are expensive and bulky. Another problem with electric cars is that most of our electricity is produced in coal-burning plants. Burning coal pollutes the atmosphere, and coal is a non-renewable resource.

Nuclear and hydroelectric plants also produce electricity, but both present problems. Many people fear nuclear accidents and the waste from a nuclear plant creates major disposal problems. As for hydroelectric plants, they must be located near water, which limits their range.

The research will continue and, someday soon, alternative fuels will no longer be an alternative, but a reality.

Emerson Fittipaldi, former two-time Formula One World Champion, is the 1989 PPG Indy Car World Series Champion and 1989 Indianapolis 500 winner. He drives for Marlboro Racing Team Penske.
